Republicans Beat Democrats In Tax Battle

COMPROMISE MEASURE IS AGREED ON BY PARTY FACTIONS

Compact Is Said to Be Perfectly Acceptable to Administration

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Reversing its previous action, the House of Representatives this afternoon pulled the Democratic income tax rates out of the tax reduction bill and substituted a schedule which is a compromise between the Garner rates and those proposed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

The defeat of the Democrats was accomplished when they were deserted by the insurgent Republicans who helped them write the Garner tax plan inot the bill. The vote was 216 to 199.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—The Mellon income tax rates were decisively rejected by the House of Representatives this afternoon.

A record vote on the Mellon rates was demanded by Representative Hawley, Republican, who moved to substitute them for the Democratic (Carner) rates, which the House accepted previously.

The final rejection of the Mellon schedule—25 per cent maximum surtax rate and 3 and 6 per cent on incomes below and above $5,000—opened the way for a vote on the Longworth substitute, carrying the compromise maximum surtax rate of 37 1-2 per cent.

G. O. P. Seeks Credit

The compromise was proposed by Representative Longworth, the Republican leader, with a view to giving the Republicans credit for writing the tax bill.

The maximum surtax rate finally adopted by the house is 37½ per cent on incomes of $200,000 and over, compared with 25 per cent in the Mellon plan and 44 per cent in the Garner plan.

The normal tax rates of the compromise are 2 per cent below $4000, 5 per cent from $4000 to $8000 and 6 per cent from $8000 upward.

Compromise Is Reached In House Taxation Fight

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Rejection of the income tax rates written into the tax reduction bill by the Democrats and the substitution of compromise rates which are acceptable to the administration was agreed upon today after a series of conference between the regular and insurgent Republicans.

Announcement of the compromise agreement was made shortly before the House convened by Representative John M. Nelson of Wisconsin, leader of the insurgents.

Agree on Maximum

The maximum surtax rate under the compromise will be 37½ per cent on incomes of $200,000 and over, instead of the 44 per cent maximum written into the bill under the Garner plan. (The original Mellon plan provided for a maximum surtax of 25 per cent).

The normal tax rates agreed upon, according to Nelson, are 2 per cent up to $4000; 5 per cent from $4000 to $8000, and 6 per cent for $8000 upwards.

The regular Republicans were represented in the conferences with the insurgents by Representative Longworth of Ohio, the Republican leader.

House Fight to End

The curtain will be pulled down on tax reduction legislation in the House late today under an agreement to vote finally on the passage of the bill.

The legislation will not come up in the House again after the bill has been acted upon by the Senate.

It was reported in Congressional circles the president would disapprove the compromise as straying too far from the original Mellon rates.

Income Taxes for 1923 Reduced by House Provision

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Income taxes for 1923, due on March 15, 1924, will be reduced 25 per cent under a provision written into the tax reduction bill this afternoon by the House of Representatives. The 1923 reduction was approved by the ways and means committee in reporting the bill to the House, but Representative Crisp, Democrat, of Georgia, moved that the provision be stricken from the bill. The House approved the immediate tax reduction, however, by a vote of 181 to 145 against the Crisp motion.

COUNSEL SCORES LUDENDORFF FOES

Stories Ridiculing Accused In Treason Trial Stir Attorney's Wrath

MUNICH, Feb. 29. — Dr. Schramm, counsel for the defense in the Ludendorff-Hitler high treason trial, protested to the court today against stories ridiculing and disparaging the defendants.

"These defendants are fine, upstanding, true Germans, facing judges with pure hearts," said Dr. Schramm. "They do not need to testify with shaking knees and chattering teeth."

Associate defense counsel denied the defendants are trying to shift the blame for the "cellar putsch" to others.

Expel Cartoonist

The prosecutor denied that the judge smiled while Hitler was testifying. The situation is becoming tense.

Dr. Schramm asked the court to expel a cartoonist who drew a picture ridiculing Ludendorff and Hitler.

ADMITS PUTTING POISON IN SOUP

Mrs. Potegian to Know Jury Decision In Murder Trial Shortly

FRESNO, Cal., Feb. 29.—Indications today were that Mrs. Eliza Potegian, charged with having poisoned her stepdaughter Margaret, will know her fate from the hands of the jury late today or tomorrow.

Dramatically reciting a tale of despair because she had failed to receive a larger portion of her husband's estate, her need for money and her inability to keep vineyard laborers at work, Mrs. Potegian took the stand in her own behalf. She denied having placed a "curse" on the Potegian family, but admitted having placed ant poison in the okra soup, thereby ending her stepdaughter's life, and poisoning her two stepchildren. She denied all other poison charges. The defense contends the ant powder was not of such a nature as to have caused the death of Margaret Potegian.

FORBES INDICTED ON FOUR COUNTS

Former Veterans' Bureau Head; Contractor Face Conspiracy Charge

CHICAGO, Feb. 29.—The special federal grand jury empaneled to investigate alleged irregularities in the administration of the this afternoon returned its report indicting Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former head of the bureau and John V. Thompson, multi-millionaire contractor of St. Louis. Four indictments were returned against the two men. Both were charged with conspiracy to defraud the government and also with conspiracy to commit bribery.

BABE RUTH COLLAPSES

URGES PUBLIC TAKE ACTION ON 'DOPE'

W. C. T. U. State President In Address at Meeting Here, Makes Plea

Urging the Glendale Women's Temperance Union to sponsor a great mass meeting to consider the traffic in habit forming drugs, Mrs. Eva Cravon Wheeler, president of the California W. C. T. U., opened the state jubilee conference this morning at the Central Christian church, with the Glendale union, led by Mrs. Ruby J. Smart, as hosts.

"There is a great deal of exaggeration about 'dope' using in the United States," declared Mrs. Wheeler. "Rumor states that there are between 4,000,000 and 7,000,000 addicts in the United States, which is greatly exaggerated, for a recent scientific count showed the number of addicts to be 1,000,000.

Claims Exaggeration

"Reasons for such exaggeration are two: First, is the dope sellers, who support such rumors because it makes his business popular, and, second, the bootleggers, who use these large figures as an argument against prohibition.

"But the problem is great and there is a great need of education, particularly among our young people. My plea is for giving them the right kind of education about dope. Don't present the subject in detail, telling them how the drugs can be used, but tell them of the sorry consequences.

Cut Production

"England, France and America can control the drug evil by cutting down the production.

"I urge you W. C. T. U. women of Glendale to hold a big mass meeting to discuss the dope problem, and may I make the suggestion that you have both sides of the question presented. That is how we can get accurate figures on which to base our work."

Dr. John Welborn of 1136 East Colorado street, who was announced as the speaker of the morning, was called north on professional duties and unable to be present. He was to have given a paper on "Dope." In his place Mrs. Wheeler gave the interesting discussion of the subject.

MISSILES RAIN ON SAXON MINISTER

Communists Hurl Ink Bottles In Riotous Outbreak At Diet Session

DRESDEN, Germany, Feb. 29.—Violence broke out in the Saxon diet today when the communists amid excitement and shouting bombarded the prime minister with ink bottles, books and canes.

It was necessary to adjourn the session for two hours. The communists were expelled by force. As they were being led from the chamber, the communists turned and shouted at the prime minister:

"You are drunk.

Swearing In Public Not Permitted If Girl Made Mayor

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Feb. 29.—Promiscuous profanity in public places will not go if Miss Effie Cherry, one of the famous Cherry sisters of vaudeville fame, is elected mayor of this city, she declared today.

She will make her first public appearance in many years tonight before the civic club, when she will outline the planks in her platform.

"Thou shalt not swear" will be strictly enforced, she says.

CONFESSION MADE BY YOUNG WIFE

Admits Story of 'Rich Man' Untrue; No Arrests to Be Made, Report

Following a two hour grilling yesterday afternoon, Evelyn Helliker Avery, 20-year-old wife of Robert Avery, 200 East Dryden street, admitted to Police Chief J. D. Fraser that the entire story regarding the "rich stranger" was a fabrication. But she stoutly maintained that there was a "man" in the case whom she gave the name of "Johnson," and asserted repeatedly that he had caused the slight wounds on her breast and face.

At the beginning of the interview her husband was also present. Chief Fraser sensed that his presence was embarrassing her, so he later sent the husband away. When charged directly with not telling the truth, she broke down and told him a pitiful tale.

Only Scratches

She could not be shaken in her story that the wounds had been inflicted by "Johnson," even when confronted with Dr. T. C. Young, who, at the request of the chief, examined the wounds and stated that in his opinion they were caused by a pin or needle. The scratches—for that is all they were—are almost entirely healed.

Chief Fraser stated this morning that he did not believe that the wounds had been inflicted by the stranger, but was of the opinion that Mrs. Avery had inflicted them herself.

No action will be taken against the man "Johnson," even if he is apprehended, it is believed.

REDUCE ARMY TERM

MADRID, Feb. 29.—General Primo Rivera today announced revision of the recruiting law which reduces the length of service and grants special facilities to students, enabling them to continue their studies while training.

FLU STRIKES SWAT KING SUDDENLY

Grave Danger Pneumonia May Develop, Declare Attending Doctors

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 29.—George Hetman (Babe) Ruth, Sultan of the Swat, collapsed today in the lobby of his hotel here and was removed to his room, critically ill.

Ruth, physicians say, now is suffering from influenza but they say there is grave danger pneumonia may develop within twenty-four hours.

Ruth, who has been here almost three weeks, has been suffering from what was considered a slight cold for a few days.

Suddenly Stricken

He had been out about ten minutes, when he became weak and staggered back to the hotel. In the lobby, he tottered a moment and, with a cry, "My God, I'm sick," collapsed.

Dr. W. T. Wooten and a trained nurse were summoned immediately and, after an examination, Dr. Wooten issued this statement:

"Ruth is in better condition to recover from this attack than he was last year, when he was stricken with a similar malady.

In Serious Condition

"On the previous occasion, he played golf all day with a temperature of 102, but today, fortunately, he called me immediately.

"There is grave danger, of course, that pneumonia may develop. We cannot tell about that, however, until after the elapse of forty-eight hours at the earliest."

Ruth, who is an outfielder of the world's champion New York Yankee baseball club, has spent most of his time since his arrival here on the golf links and in the baths, in an effort to remove some superfluous flesh.

Coolidge's Name Goes On Primary Ballots

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 29.—Republican State Chairman E. C. Stokes today notified President Coolidge that his name would be on the New Jersey presidential primary ballots April 22 for the Republican nomination for president.

Under the laws of New Jersey it is not necessary that Mr. Coolidge should file an acceptance.

OIL COMMITTEE TO GET INCOME RECORDS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Without a record vote, the Senate today passed the McKellar resolution, requesting the treasury department to turn over to the Senate oil investigating committee the income tax returns of E. L. Doheny, Jr., Harry F. Sinclair, A. B. Fall and all the companies which Sinclair and Doheny own. Senator McKellar said he thought the records would disclose "how much was paid" to Fall and other men, and whether these payments figure in their income tax returns.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE AGAINST SINCLAIR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—The direct charge that Harry F. Sinclair "conspired" with the Pioneer Oil company to obtain a lease to Teapot Dome, was made before the Senate public lands committee today by Karl C. Schuyler of Denver, counsel for J. Leo Stack, Denver oil man. Schuyler declared Sinclair paid $1,000,000 to the Midwest Oil group, including Pioneer, to quit their claims to the reserve. The million dollar agreement was made in March, 1922, a month before Sinclair obtained Teapot Dome from ex-Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall, he said. Conspiracy charges were made in a complaint drawn by Stack against Sinclair and the Midwest companies to recover on Stack's 5 per cent interest in Pioneer's claims to the reserves.

GLENDALE IS BABYLESS LEAP DAY

None to Have Birthday Every Four Years Unless Mr. Stork Hurries

Glendale is —so far—babyless today, February 29, the "leap" day of the leap year, local hospitals reporting that no babies had opened their eyes to the light of day to enjoy birthday anniversaries every four years in years to come.

However, Glendalians whose births were recorded on February 29 of previous years, were celebrating the day with much zest, for with the possibility of the League of Nations adopting the proposed new calendar, which abolishes the twenty-ninth of February, they may not have another birthday.

Seven Years Old Today

Miss Annie Chase of 230 Sinclair street was the first person to visit The Glendale Evening News office this morning to declare that she was a leap year "child," having ben born in New Hampshire one leap year. While perfectly willing to state that she has lived in Glendale nine years, she was a bit modest about telling just how many years ago she was born, but was more than willing to say that she is just 7 years old today. Her last birthday was celebrated in 1920.

This twenty-ninth of February enigma has confronted man through the centuries, and it is said that the English law contains a provision which states back to the thirteenth century to take care of the question as to when a man born on the twenty-ninth of February becomes legally of age.

Day Before—Or After

The father of a son born on February 29, 1912, had an attorney look up the procedure and found this old statue, which provides that either the day before the twenty-ninth or the day after may be considered the legal birthday.

Leap year contains an extra day because it takes the earth 365.2422 days to travel about the sun. This extra day is worked in every fourth year at the end of the shortest month of the year. But there is a tiny fraction which must be taken into account which amounts up to one day in every 400 years.

Therefore, while the years divisible by four are leap years, only those divisible by 400 are leap years at the end of the centuries. Thus, the years 1700, 1800 and 1900 were not leap years, but the year 2000 will be.

Which would make all the babies born today, February 29, 1924, exactly 20 years old on February 29, 2000, according to leap year figures, leaving out the years between.

LAND MARINES ON HONDURAN COAST

Force to Protect American Lives Sent Ashore by Admiral Dayton

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—A detachment of United States marines have been landed on the north coast of Honduras to act as "consular guard" and to "protect American lives," it was announced at the state department today.

The marines were sent to Honduras on board the United States cruiser, in command of Admiral Dayton.

Five Million More English Women to Get Right to Vote

LONDON, Feb. 29.—A bill reducing women's voting age from 30 to 21 passed the House of Commons today. It probably will be enacted into law, as it has the support of the Labor government.

Leap year day was celebrated with open debate on the measure to give the ballot to all women at the age of 21. The present voting age for women is 40.

The bill aims at the complete electoral franchise of English women upon the same terms as men.

The bill passed today enfranchises 5,000,000 women who are too young to vote under the present law.

Oil Co. Employe Slays Self After Attempt to Commit Triple Murder

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 29.—Art Ewarth, 40, Standard Oil company employe at Hickman, near here, killed himself today after shooting and dangerously wounding his wife and two daughters, according to reports to the sheriff's office here this morning.

FEDERAL TROOPS RECAPTURE CITY

Puerto Mexico, Rail Terminus And Oil Port, Taken By Obregon's Men

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 29.—Puerto Mexico, gulf terminus of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec railway and the third largest oil exporting port in Mexico, is again held by federals today. The rebel garrison fled Wednesday.

Rebel forces operating in the Isthmus of Tehuantepec and the southern part of the state of Vera Cruz are reported to be trying to join General Guadalupe's force at Jalapa, which now numbers 3,000.

General Eugenio Martinez, liberator of Vera Cruz, is commanding 5,000 federals who will give battle to the rebels at Jalapa.

The federal offensive in the direction of Jalapa is being delayed. As the rebels retreated they burned bridges, dynamited viaducts and tore up rails.

Howard Carter Gives Way to Countess Carnarvon In Trusteeship Case

LUXOR, Egypt, Feb. 29.—Howard Carter today withdrew his suit to have himself appointed trustee for the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen in the Valley of Kings. It is understood that Countess Carnarvon, widow of Carter's late coworker, plans new action against the Egyptian government, which has taken over the historic tomb.

Carter was exploring the tomb under a license issued in the name of Countess Carnarvon. It was recently revoked.

EX-OFFICIAL QUESTIONED ON WIRES SENT TO M'LEAN

Former Attorney General Is Emphatic In Denial of Many Statements

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—The Senate became involved in a heated row this afternoon over the Daugherty investigation resolution.

The wrangle came, not over the resolution itself, as it will be passed with but little opposition later in the day, but over the method of selecting the "trial committee."

By KENNETH CLARK ....

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—A. Mitchell Palmer, attorney general in the Wilson administration, was put on the grill today before the Senate public lands committee, concerning his persistent efforts to block the examination of E. B. McLean, wealthy publisher, by the committee.

Palmer, who acted as McLean's attorney, was subjected to a vigorous examination by various senators on the committee, as to the "wires pulled" to prevent the committee from examining McLean.

Palmer denied that he was a law partner of Colonel J. W. Zevely, an associate of Harry F. Sinclair, although in the McLean telegrams made public by the committee yesterday reference was made to a partnership existing between the two. He similarly denied he was ever employed by Sinclair, or by ex-Secretary of the Interior Fall.

Old Time Friends

The former attorney-general gave his testimony under oath, being sworn by Senator Lenroot, chairman of the committee.

He said he had been a friend of McLean's for some years and recently was employed as counsel for the publisher by John Major, McLean's confidential representa-

OUTBREAK LOOMS IN GREEK CRISIS

Officers Demand Recognition As Venizelos' Power Slips From Grasp

LONDON, Feb. 29.—The League of Republican Officers has issued an ultimatum demanding immediate recognition, according to an Athens dispatch. A coup is threatened unless their demands are met.

Former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos, whose word was once law in Greece, has lost his power. He favors a national plebiscite upon the question of a republic but the army officers have overwhelmed him.

Colonel Condylis and Admiral Hadjikyriskos, leaders of the republican group, have gone to Salonika to hold a "council of war."

If there is a coup d'etat it probably will be launched from Salonika rather than Athens.

Fear Italy, Spain

This move was precipitated by Premier Mussolini's announcement that the Italian navy would be made one of the strongest in Europe and by the approaching entente between Italy and Spain for control of the Mediterranean.

Great Britain is showing increased nervousness over the maritime activity of Italy and the growing accord between Rome and Madrid. The French fear Italy will assume domination of the Mediterranean from Gibraltar eastward, with the assistance of Spain.

GLENDALE POLICE RECORD SPREADS

Repressa Citizen Wants to Know If It's Safe for Stranger Here

Glendale's reputation as a law-abiding city is evidently spreading afield.

In Chief Fraser's mail this morning was a letter from a Repressa, Cal., citizen, addressed to the "Night Captain," which read:

"A statement has been made that it would be almost an impossibility for anyone that was not known to the police officials to get into Glendale either on street cars or on foot and arrive at the corner of Broadway and Belmont street without being challenged by a patrolman or by one of the police cars.

"I would like to have your opinion on this—as it is rather a strong statement to make unless one really knows.

"Kindly let me know what you think of such a statement.

"You are in a position to know as you alone are responsible if this is true."

Chief Says It's True

In order that the man's information might be corroborated, Chief Fraser answered the letter stating that such was the case. He stated that the night patrols were very diligent in inquiring into the business of any one seen on the street after 11 o'clock, and if the person could give no account of his actions, he was locked up for investigation.

The chief, however, did not feel like stating that it would be impossible for any man to ride in on a street car to the terminal on East Broadway without being questioned.

With Mrs. Yard

Shakespeare was studied yesterday at the chapter meeting of the Alpha Delphians with Mrs. E. D. Yard of 431 North Maryland avenue. Mrs. P. O. Lucas, president, presided.

The program was in charge of the Ivy group, led by Mrs. R. W. Bolton. Mrs. Bolton gave an interesting talk on Shakespeare and Mrs. E. D. Yard told of "The Religion and Contemporaries of Shakespeare." Another subject was discussed by Mrs. H. D. Goss, who gave an interesting talk on "Mythological References."

Mrs. H. C. Wilcox gave the story of "The Golden Fleece" and Mrs. W. F. Nash gave readings from Shakespeare.

The two facts stressed throughout the meeting were the education and religion that England has given the world, and the fact that Shakespeare glorified woman.

Presents Program

Mrs. Bessie Dolan Chester gave the regular monthly recital of her piano pupils at her home Wednesday afternoon of this week. Those contributing to the program were in primary grades of music. After the program the pupils enjoyed games.

In a contest of guessing names of composers four were tied for first place, which went to Anita Halverson, who drew for lucky number.

Refreshments of chocolate and wafers were served. The program included: "The 'Cello Player" (McIntyre), "Happy Farmer" (Schumann), by Lillian Lipstrom; "Love Song" (Gurlett) by Hazel Burton; duet, "A Scale Waltz" (Cram) by Lillian Lipstrom and Louise Vorwerk; "Under the Pines" (Dutton), "Minuet in G" (Beethoven), by Anita Halverson; "Spring Song" (Ellmenereich), by Louise Vorwerk; "The Rosary" (Nevin), by Leone Rockhold; duet, "Birds of Message" (Behr), by Anita Halverson and LaVerne Shaw; "Rondo Caprice" (Sudds), "Humoresque" (Dvorak), by LaVerne Shaw.

Mrs. Chester is specializing with beginners at present, and also continuing her studies under the direction of Herbert Douglas of Los Angeles, who was a pupil nine years under Godowsky.

Class Entertains

One of the most enjoyable of the Broadway Methodist Sunday school affairs was that of last evening when members of the Young People's class and their friends met for dinner and later were entertained with a splendid program. This affair without a doubt was the most enjoyable of the season and a decided success financially. A substantial amount was realized and has been applied to the fund for purchasing furnishings for their class room.

A delicious chicken pie supper was served early in the evening, followed by the presentation of a program and, according to "old-timers," has seldom been equalled in the history of local entertainments. The program included piano selections by Mrs. J. W. Knight; accordion solos by Donald M. Castlen; characteristic impersonations by Miss Nina Hobson, and the famous trio composed of "Bill" Rye, "Dave" Philgren and "Empty" Anderson delighted the audience with a number of vocal and instrumental selections. It was quite evident from the applause they received that the violin, guitar and piano combination has not lost its popularity.

John W. Knight of 704 North Howard street is the class teacher.

Oriental Spirit

A delightful Oriental spirit dominated the entertainment program yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Maids and Young Maids' department of the Tuesday Afternoon club at the clubhouse.

China was pictured in song and story to the club women who met for the interesting program.

Mrs. D. E. Baxter, who has traveled extensively in China, gave the prologue to a group of musical numbers and dramatic readings. She told of her travels and experiences in the Orient.

Later Mrs. Howard E. Cavanah, accompanied by Mr. Cavanah sang beautifully "Lute of Jade" (Frances Allitsen), and Mrs. Wittemore of the Cavanah studios, in Chinese costume, gave the readings, "Hi Lee, Hi Loo" (Eugene Wood), "The Story of a Chinese Love," and a pianologue, "On a Piece of Old Chinese Plate."

Tea was served by the hostesses, Mesdames Holt, P. E. Webb, A. W. Jorres and Harbell.

Before the program Mrs. G. G. Putnam, curator, presided over a business hour, during which plans were made for the dinner dance on the evening of St. Patrick's day, March 17.

Church Wedding

A quiet wedding ceremony was performed last Wednesday noon, February 27, 1924, at the Church of the Angels, Annandale, when Miss Florence Oakley of 2202 Bellevue avenue, Hollywood, and Harold Beere, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. J. Beere of 416 East Lomita avenue, were united in marriage. Only a few intimate friends and relatives were present.

Miss Oakley wore an attractive traveling gown of tan canton crepe with a hat in the new yellow shade and wore a corsage bouquet of yellow roses and maiden hair fern. Her sister, Mrs. Niverson, attended as matron of honr. She wore a dark blue canton crepe dress and wore a corsage of pink roses and fern.

Mr. Beere was attended by Stanley Parkhouse of St. Paul, Minn., as best man.

The ushers were George Morrison and Lawrence Smith of Glendale.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Hunter sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly," and Miss Roberta Bolen played the wedding marches on the organ for the entrance of the bridal party.

After the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. S. J. Beere, 416 East Lomita avenue, to the members of the wedding party and a few intimate relatives and friends.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Beere left by automobile for a short trip in the northern part of the state. Upon their return they will make their home in Hollywood.

February Business Reveals Steady Advancement During Month

Although building permits for February this year will not total as high as those of 1923, H. C. Vandewater, municipal building superintendent, states that, taken as a whole, business has been decidedly better.

This amount, however, included a $400,000 permit issued to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, so that in reality the small permits exceed those of last year by $200,000. The total this year does not include any permit of extraordinary proportions.

The total for the year was announced this noon as $1,830,229.

SUBMIT REPORTS AT KIWANIS MEET

Committee Chairmen Outline Plans for Remaining Month of Year

Business was the keynote of the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club, held today at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. Chairmen of the various committees told of the preliminary work accomplished by their committees since the first of the year and outlined their plans for the remaining months of their terms.

The entire session was given over to the reading of these reports and discussion of future plans. Various members of the club took part in the discussion which followed the reports, and made valuable suggestions.

President A. L. Bair called upon the chairmen of the various committees and led the discussions.

Mothers and Daughters

William Truitt, chairman of the program committee, announced the meeting next Friday would be Mothers' and Daughters' Day, and the usual session of the club would take on a social appearance. Every member was asked to bring a mother and daughter to the event.

The program next week, he announced, would be in keeping with the National Canned Food week, and many of the articles on the menu would be canned products representing California's industries. Sample cans of fruit will be distributed to the women attending the meeting.

The work of the classification committee was explained by Charles F. Stewart, chairman of that committee. Under instructions from the board of directors, the members of the classification committee had checked the revised list and called for connections.

Thanks for Flowers

Secretary Don Webb read a communication from D. H. Smith, a member of the club, in which Mr. Smith expressed thanks and appreciation for the flowers donated by the club, and the attendance of the club at the funeral of Mrs. Smith.

President Baird appointed "Cliff" Cole, John Watson and William Horn as members of a special committee to draft a resolution of sympathy to be sent to Mr. Smith.

Several members of the club will attend the charter night program given by the Huntington Park club tonight, Secretary Webb announced. The charter night program of the Eagle Rock club will be held on March 14, he said, and Glendale will be represented.

Attendance prizes were awarded to Tom Furst and Miller B. Towman.

"Herb" Henning, pianist for the club, who has been absent from the city for several weeks, was present, and provided the music. On account of his absence, Presidence Baird insisted Mr. Henning favor the members with a piano solo, and the members insisted he make it several solos. George Lyons led the singing.

POPULAR POSTAL CLERK TO LEAVE

Miss Nellie Black Is Deeply Affected as Associates Present Gifts

Friendships formed in a city like Glendale are never fully appreciated until the ties are about to be broken. That is the lesson learned today by Miss Nellie Black, general delivery clerk at the Glendale postoffice.

She had applied for transfer to San Diego where personal friends had invited her to come and live with them in the harbor of the sun. Yesterday Miss Estelle L. Levy, her successor from San Diego, arrived to take Miss Black's post.

Captain D. Ripley Jackson, postmaster, presented her with an electric toaster on behalf of the letter carriers. It was unusual for the outside department to make such a gift to a clerk. And then the clerks gave her a traveling bag. It was too much.

Visibly affected by the friendship she was about to lose, Miss Black sought to have the orders changed—but in postal circles the die is cast and once the transfer is ordered, she must carry on.

PHYSICIANS HEAR HEALTH LECTURE

Dr. Kaemmerling Is Speaker On Vital Problems at Doctors' Meet

Vital health preservation problems were discussed at yesterday's noon luncheon meeting of the Glendale Physicians' club, held at the Egyptian Village, 135 North Brand boulevard, with Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, as the principal speaker.

Dr. Kaemmerling told of the preventive work being done in his department. Dr. O. A. Dieterich suggested that, inasmuch as some members of the club had been ill during the past year, a sick committee be appointed. The suggestion was put in the form of a motion and carried. The following committee was appointed: Dr. Margaret M. York, Dr. Harold J. Cooper and Dr. J. E. Eckles.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held at the same time, March 15.

Preliminary to the noontide prayer and adjournment for luncheon, Mrs. Hattie Doughty told of "Forward Plans for the County W. C. T. U."

Afternoon Session

This afternoon's session was to open at 2 o'clock with a prayer by Rev. A. B. Smart of Glendale, to be followed by a discussion of "Teaching, Statutes and Judgments From the Constitution of the United States."

Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of the First Congregational church, was announced on the program to give an address on "International Relations." Later Mrs. Sheldon will speak on "Law Enforcement" and Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., on "Women's Clubs in Co-operation With the W. C. T. U."

A feature planned for the afternoon is a spectacular parade, showing "Children's Star," "Women and Law," "Service Stations," "The Contents of the Up-to-Date Family Medicine Bottle," all in costume.

At 7:30 o'clock tonight the final session will begin with Rev. C. A. Cole, pastor of the Central Christian church, leading devotions. Mrs. Wheeler will give her address, "A Million for Defense," illustrated with pictures and tableaux.

Throughout the conference special music was to be given by Mrs. Viva Lee Weidman of Glendale and Mrs. Bertha Smart Fredale of Chicago, Ill.

PALMER ON STAND AT OIL INQUIRY

Former Attorney General's Testimony Is Denial of Many Statements

tive in Washington. How Major got the idea he was a law partner of Colonel Zevely, Palmer did not know, but he said he surmised it was because Zevely remarked to Major that he had been talking over the oil scandal with Palmer.

Palmer said that on December 23 Zevely called to see him, and "during the course of the conversation he asked me either what I thought or what I knew about the oil investigation. I told him I had never heard of it; that I had been out of the country for four months and out of the city for six months and didn't really know the investigation was going on."

Zevely asked Palmer, the witness said, "If he thought Sinclair and Fall could be compelled to testify.

"Curbstone Opinion"

"I merely gave him my curbstone opinion," Palmer said, "that a witness could be made to testify concerning any matter in the jurisdiction of the congress."

Palmer denied he had advised McLean he would not be called to testify.

Dill read a wire from Major to McLean referring to "Palmer and his law partner, Zevely," saying "Palmer in the morning would look out for the interests of the man at Wardman Park (Fall).

"Did you see Fall?"

"I haven't seen him for several years," Palmer replied.

Palmer said he had not discussed with McLean about "getting Whitney (Harry Payne Whitney) excused from testifying."

"Did you know that Zevely was acting for McLean?"

"I did not."

Makes General Denial

"Did you and he ever prepare any statement for the committee?"

"No."

"Did you ever represent any one else in the investigation?"

"I never represented anyone else in any way, shape or form, except this simple thing that at McLean's request, I acted for him in the absence of his attorney, Wilton Lambert."

"Do you represent Doheny?"

"Oh, no."

"Doheny has so many attorneys I thought it fair to ask you that question."

Palmer vigorously denied that he had ever approached Senator Underwood, Democrat, of Alabama, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, to intercede in McLean's behalf.

Palmer also was emphatic in repudiating Major's statement to McLean that he "had other people working on Walsh."

"I did get the impression that Senator Walsh had not made up his mind to call McLean but I repeat I did not have anyone go to Senator Walsh for me on McLean's behalf," Palmer said.

Palmer denied hotly that he had ever advised McLean not to communicate with the oil committee.

"Here is all I had to do with this case," said Palmer, "Mr. Lambert, McLean's attorney, was out of the city. McLean asked me to represent him professionally.

"I took the telegram (that was given him by Major) to Senator Walsh and told him McLean was ill. I assumed McLean was telling the truth and was willing to testify.

"I told Senator Walsh that, because of his health, McLean preferred to give his testimony by deposition.

"What I told Senator Walsh I put in a letter embodying the telegram and mailed it to Mr. Walsh.

"Major asked me to submit the letter to Francis McAdoo, who approved of it.

"I also sent the letter to Senator Lenroot, who told me over the telephone he would be glad to lay it before the committee:

"That's absolutely all I had to do with the case. When Lambert returned I informed him of what I had done. That ended it.

"Other than what I have outlined, I did not speak to any member of the committee and I did not speak to any senator."

Palmer laid heavy emphasis on all his negations.

Palmer declared that Judge Biggs of Raleigh, N. C., a special assistant attorney-general, made a written report to him advising against an appeal.

At Dill's suggestion, Palmer was permitted to make a statement about the famous Southern Pacific railroad land cases, for failure to appeal which he was assailed by Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

EXECUTIVE OF P.-T. A. IS GUEST OF LOCAL BODY

President of First District Delivers Address at Union Meeting

Members of the Glendale district Parent-Teachers' association turned out in enthusiastic numbers to greet the president of the first district, Mrs. Shelton Bissel, of San Dimas, the guest of the Acacia avenue organization, of which Mrs. L. D. Torry is president.

The first feature of the day's pleasure was a beautifully appointed luncheon at the Egyptian Village cafe, with Mrs. Shelton as honor guest. The tables in the banquet room were bright with yellow spring flowers, and luncheon served to one hundred and eight guests. Among these were the officers of Glendale district, presidents and members of the executive boards of all the local organizations and other representative women of the different schools of the city.

Musical Program

During luncheon hour the guests were entertained with beautiful violin selections by the well known artist, Miss Hazel Linkogel, "Rondo Brilliante" (Cecil Burleigh) "Melody" (Dawes) and "Souvenir" (Drdla) with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Pearl G. Curran.

After the luncheon the party repaired to Glendale avenue school where a union meeting of the Parent-Teachers' associations of Glendale district was held in the auditorium, under the auspices of the Acacia avenue organization. Mrs. O. A. Spradling, president of Glendale Avenue Parent-Teacher association, officiated as welcoming hostess.

Mrs. Bissell gave a stirring speech on Parent-Teacher association work, its aims and accomplishment. She gave a short history of the founding of the organization, which came into being as the mothers' circle in the kindergarten in the public schools, later developing into the mothers' study club, and finally was recognized by the state federation in 1901-02.

California's Position

She laid special emphasis on the importance of the California Parent-Teacher association and its standing in the national federation, stating that today when any important question comes up before the federation, that affects the policies of the association, the first question that is asked is, "What does California do?"

"We should be proud of our heritage," said the speaker, "and work toward becoming more worthy of our place in the nation and show the nation that we are going to continue to 'carry on.' It is to you that California looks; it is to you the nation looks. Everybody Do Your Part' is the spirit of the Parent-Teacher association."

At the close of her speech, Mrs. Bissell was presented with a bouquet of fragrant pink sweetpeas, as a courtesy from the hostess Parent-Teacher association by the president, Mrs. O. A. Spradling.

Following the reports of the memberships of the local organization, Mrs. Bissell made the pleasing statement that she had reason to believe that, when the final reports were compared. Glendale would pass Pasadena in membership.

Officers Report

Short reports of the membership and the year's activities were made by the following-named officers of the local Parent-Teachers' association:

Fathers' Activities

A report of the Fathers' Auxiliary of Broadway was also made by Mrs. F. L. Barhite, secretary of the Broadway Parent-Teacher association.

Mrs. Robert Lord of Acacia Avenue Parent-Teacher association, presided as chairman of a short program that concluded the day's entertainment. Helen Healy gave an entertaining reading in Italian dialect; Marguerite Chappel, a pleasing piano solo, "The Fauns," by Chaminade, and Mrs. E. Carlson sang two very appropriate selections, "That Wonderful Mother o' Mine" and "God Is Love," after giving an interesting preliminary talk.

Local Dealers Meet Chrysler at Lunch

The entire staff of the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, Maxwell and Chrysler distributors, were the guests at luncheon today of Walter P. Chrysler, head of the Maxwell-Chrysler-Chalmers organization, who is on the coast at present making a survey of conditions here, especially in connection with the introduction of the new Chrysler Six to the motorists of the west.

The entire Southern California dealers' organization was present at the luncheon, which was held at the Biltmore hotel and at which President Chrysler outlined his plans for the west coast business.

JIMMY SOULES TALKS!

A Plain Statement of My Business Plans—

Tomorrow I will open what I really believe is sorely needed in Glendale—a high class men's tailoring establishment. It is my ambition to build up here a tailoring business equal to any on the coast and I know that I can do it in only one way—make every customer a booster for my business by giving him perfect fitting clothes that will stand out as an advertisement to his relatives and friends. At the GRAND OPENING ONE DAY PRICE, I, of course, cannot hope to make money. Everyone having the slightest knowledge of woolen and labor costs knows that. But even if I lose money tomorrow on every order it will pay me to have a large number of men in Glendale wearing these clothes. So this is the only favor I am going to ask my first customers in return for saving them a lot of money: Tell your friends about me.

GRAND OPENING OFFER

For One Day Only, Tomorrow, Saturday, March 1st

Men's Suits and Overcoats

Remember One Day Only Saturday March 1

$32.50 BUILT TO ORDER $32.50

Remember One Day Only Saturday March 1

Jimmy Soules Talks:

Remember, I back every garment that goes out of this shop to make good. If you are not satisfied with the fit, appearance or quality of tailoring your money willingly refunded.

As the regular prices of these materials are $60, $65 and up to $70, the price of $32.50 is limited to one day only. Perfect fit, painstaking workmanship and absolute satisfaction guaranteed, the same as if you paid regular price. Money back if I don't please you in every way.

LIMIT SATURDAY—ONE SUIT
ONE OVERCOAT TO EACH CUSTOMER

Jimmy Soules Talks:

I feature clothes for men who do not order new suits and coats every season. I build clothes to last—to stand up under rough usage. That's why I am going to do the largest business in Glendale.

Wonderful Showing in Fine Fabrics

The line of woolens I am offering the men of this city is varied enough in pattern and color to suit the most careful dresser. The quality of weave and fabric of my woolens will appeal to men who expect a suit or overcoat to give long service. Serges, tweeds, worsteds and mixtures in substantial, heavy weights. These woolens are worth $6 to $9 per yard and are of the character that the ordinary small tailors must charge an almost prohibitive price for. Remember, I have never made suits for less than $60 and will not do so again after Saturday.

SHOP IS READY

Complete equipment for our workshop has been installed and you are cordially invited to call and inspect the big, well-lighted, sanitary shop. It's easily the finest shop in California. All our clothes will be made on our own premises. You can watch your suit being made if you wish. "Suits that satisfy" as they have always satisfied for more than 25 years.

Made In Glendale
NOT SENT TO CHICAGO

By ordering from me you not only help build up a Glendale pay roll, but you also know that your clothes are actually being built to order, for I try them on in the making as often as necessary to insure perfect fit.

Guaranteed Tailoring

Tailored to your individual measure; not thrown together. A real tailoring in every sense of the word. Pure wool materials of every conceivable style and pattern. Every garment made in our own shop by the best of tailors. Every man an artist. Designing and cutting by designers that are second to none. Your fit and style guaranteed, or

Your Money Refunded If We Fail to Please You

Some of you have never been satisfied with the way your clothes have been made, and keep continually going from shop to shop. Pay us one visit, and your quest will end. We can demonstrate and prove to you the superiority of the clothes I tailor. You be the judge.

Actually Less than Ready-Mades. Look around Glendale. Notice the $35 and $45 price tags on ordinary ready-to-wear clothes. Think of getting my high class made to your individual order clothes at prices actually a good deal less than hand-me-downs.

100 Per Cent "American"

An American garment for the American people is the plan of the new establishment to open at 108 South Brand boulevard, Glendale, on Saturday. It is to be 100 per cent American made, of goods of unquestioned American quality, made by comfortable and skilled Americans for American trade. American's methods have produced the best materials and workmanship in the world. Shoddy is not there. The workmanship will be of sterling standard which has made Glendale one of the most substantial cities in the nation. Cheap, unskilled workers cannot produce either a perfect piece of work, or save cost. Neither will be employed, and when better garments are built in Glendale we will build them. Tailored, not down to a price, but up to a quality.

Jimmy Soules Talks:

A rare treat is in store for the Good Dressers of Glendale—conservative as well as "Dashing" styles for all tastes. Never Break Fronts, Close-Fitting Collars, Semi-English Shoulders.

Lost Boy Rounded Up by Scouts of Glendale Troop 4

A little drama, "Lost and Found," with Robert Van Osdoll of 120 South Belmont avenue as the central figure, has been written by Troop 4 of the Glendale Boy Scouts, with Scoutmaster Harold B. Lockwood as master of ceremonies, and the boys of the troop as the dramatis personae.

The troop organized a search patrol Wednesday night, February 20, and within a short time rounded up the lost boy. His mother was so delighted with the efficient service of the troop that on their next regular meeting, Wednesday night of this week, at the American Legion hall on East Broadway, she set the whole troop up to ice cream and cake.

The curtain descends on just one more example of every Boy Scout's motto, "Do a kind deed every day."

The prisoner fumbled with the combination five minutes, when the door swung open.

ASSERTS CABOT, NOT COLUMBUS FOUND AMERICA

Mayor of Bristol Opposes Giving Credit to Italian In Coming Pageant

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service.

LONDON, Feb. 29.—Who discovered America?

Wait a minute! Don't start for the head of the class just yet. Maybe it wasn't Christopher Columbus after all. Perhaps the history sharks have miscued and all these years have been slipping Chris the credit for a little trick that John Cabot, of Bristol, England, really turned.

"There were pressing problems facing Ramsay MacDonald when he took office as prime minister and foreign secretary of Great Britain. Yet the mayor of Bristol hardly gave Macdonald time to find out if his latchkey fitted the front door at No. 10 Downing street before he demanded that the new premier settle the question of who discovered America.

The Prince of Wales has suggested that one of the features of the British Empire Exhibition to be held next summer should be a pageatn empire. Plans for this pageant provide that one scene shall depict the intrepid Christopher Columbus as the first voyager from the Old World to land in the future home of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Forthwith the patriotic soul of the mayor of Bristol began to

London Financial Prestige Hangs In Balance, Says British Economic Expert

EDITOR'S NOTE—"The omens are dark," says Lord Sydenham in the following article in which he disusses British trade's future. Lord Sydenham is a prominent figure in the British financial world.

By LORD SYDENHAM OF COMBE
(Written for International News Service.)
Copyright, 1923, by International News Service

LONDON, Feb. 29.—The story of the evolution which made Britain the premier center of finance, and London the great clearing house of the world, is complex and fascinating. Many causes have combined to confer this position upon us. In the middle ages financial control of England fell into the hands of the Germans, who by the powerful agency of the Hansiatic league manipulated our commerce, subsidized our kings, interfered in our foreign policy and threatened our existence as a maritime people. Entrenched in the city of London with amazing privileges, astutely turned to full account, they brought our few industries under tribute, and by the middle of the fifteenth century dominated our overseas trade.

The treaty of Utrecht, in 1474, by which we surrendered almost all that the Germans demanded, might well have seemed to render our financial future hopeless. Patriotism, the merchant adventurers and protection at length saved us, and laid deep the foundations of our world commerce.

Germans Thwarted

The work begun by Henry VII after the end of the Wars of the Roses was completed by the great seamen of Elizabeth, who wrecked the invincible Armada financed and supplied by Germans, who also provided assistance for the expeditionary force which, under the Duke of Parma, was to invade England. The Thirty Years War, which began in 1618, finally shattered the first German empire, and France became the most dangerous rival to British expansion. The conclusion of the long conflict with France left us paramount at sea, with commerce increased by war and with security at home and in the colonies, which could grow in peace to great dominions. The immense industrial developments of the nineteenth century created the wealth by which the members of the empire and some foreign states could be financed. We became the great creditor nation of the world.

With a long start in industrial production and rapidly growing overseas trade, supported by the prestige of a victorious navy and built upon protection, we could easily hold our own for many years. The policy of free imports was powerless to affect our progress, while no serious rivals had entered the field.

GERMAN VIEWS BRITISH NAVAL GRIP AS SUPREME

Former Admiral Says France Never Could Win War With Empire Whose Ships Even Excel America's

By WALTER DIETZEL
For International News Service

BERLIN, Feb. 29.—"France will never win a war against England. Great Britain's naval superiority will victoriously resist any alliance of powers that France may be able to bring about within the next few years." This is the opinion of ex-Admiral von Grapow, a German naval expert, expressed in an article on the question whether a British blockade against France might be successful.

"It is not that England is afraid of France, but she is simply tired of war. That's what was weighing on proud Albion's mind all the time and what made England allow France to take her in tow politically. The air menace is a fact, but it won't bring England down on her knees before France.

Never Has Won

"Remember, France never won in any war against England for centuries since Great Britain restricted herself to naval warfare All wars waged by France, then allied to Spain and Holland, respectively, did nothing but contribute to strengthen England's naval power and to extend her colonial empire.

"There is only one chance for France to decide such a war in her favor—an alliance with the United States. But under the present conditions such an alliance seems more than doubtful. There is the steady menace of Japan taking an advantage of such a war and making herself mistress of the Pacific. America probably will prefer to maintain a "benevolent" neutrality. It means good business for her and an extension and stabilization of the Monroe Doctrine. There is enough room in the world for both America and England to go fifty-fifty on the world's trade without fighting each other. Besides, America will certainly not be willing for a second time to be made a cat's paw for the sake of European peace.

Outclass U. S. Navy

"But even if America, France, Italy and Spain were allied England's chances would be far better than ours were in 1914. At first sight the naval strength of the United States and that of Great Britain seem to keep the same level; but after careful investigation it is evident that, though equal in numbers, British battleships are far superior in fighting quality to American ships of the same type. The superiority in battle cruisers is just as overwhelming as that of destroyers and U-boat flotillas. America has to be protected on two sides, which means that her navy will have to fight on two fronts with a considerably reduced number of fighting units. Great Britain, therefore, will always maintain the strategic initiative. She will practically be mistress of the seas at the very beginning of the struggle.

"Continental allies need not be taken into account. They would only play an important part in the war if allied to England. Russia, formerly France's most formidable ally, is out altogether.

Japanese Advent Remote

"Remains Japan, which will probably remain neutral at the beginning. It has no interest in a breach with Egland, but later on it may play the same part that America played during the World war.

"The attitude of Spain and Italy will be of great importance. England, in her attempt to be protected on the road to India, secured the neutrality, if not the friendship, of these two powers lately. The comparative strength of the navies maintained in the Mediterranean proves that Spain and Italy will see their advantage in joining England against France. This triple entente could avail of no more than thirteen ships of a more or less obsolete type against twenty-six most powerful British units."

Summing up the results of his investigation, von Grapow says: "Great Britain will maintain an undisputed control of all important straits and waterways in a war against any combinations of powers possibly allied to France. All the chances are on her side."

Big 'Plane Will Span Ocean; 200 Aboard

ROME, Feb. 29.—A monster aeroplane carrying 200 passengers from Rio de Janiero to Rome in sixty hours is the ambitious proposal of Nicola Santo, the eminent Italian engineer, who founded the aerodrome of Santa Cruz, which he has submitted to a firm with which he is connected at Rio.

Signor Santo has designed a new type of aeroplane, which, he claims, will be the largest in the world, and it is by this machine that he proposes to attempt the Rio to Rome flight.

The aeroplane will be 426 feet long, 153 feet wide and about 49 feet in height and will be furnished with sixteen "Fiat" 700-horsepower engines, with a similar number of propellers.

The machine will have accommodation for 200 passengers and a large quantity of goods, and Signor Santo is confident that the aeroplane, given fair weather, could accomplish the flight in two and a half days.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 29.—One thousand bill posters employed by the Foster-Kleiser Company here and other coast cities will return to work Monday after being out on strike for five weeks. Settlement of the strike has been effected, the employers agreeing to pay the men $1 an hour and time and one-half overtime instead of the former wage, $44 weekly.

World Advertising Meeting In England Is Expected to Prove Impetus for More Trade

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service

LONDON, Feb. 29.—Advertising will be internationalized for the first time when the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World hold their annual convention in London beginning July 14.

L. A. HUSTON

This international aspect of the London convention is expected to be the chief feature of a gathering that will make advertising history. A five-day session of delegates from half the countries in the world will afford an opportunity for a discussion of advertising problems on broader lines than ever before has been possible.

Committees of earnest British advertising men are ardently at work drafting the plans and making the arrangements for the convention. Arrangements for the reception, accommodation and entertainment of guests, for finance, for the program and the manifold other details that are involved are under way, but have not yet reached the stage where definite announcements can be made.

According to present plans, approximately 2,000 delegates and visitors from the United States will be drawn to Europe by the convention. Plans are being made here for the reception and accommodation of that many. The official American delegation will be headed by E. T. Meredith, former secretary of agriculture, who is chairman of the American arrangements committee, and Lou E. Helland, of Kansas City, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

Good Publicity

The chairman of the executive council in charge of the London arrangements is C. Haroid Vernon, a well-known British business man who was a leader of the British delegation to the advertising convention at Atlantic City last year. The vice-chairman is John Cheshire, and the other members of the council constitute an impressive list of foremost British business and advertising men. Under this council the various committees carry on their work.

English advertising men frankly admit they expect British advertising to receive a tremendous impetus from this convention. Compared with the United States, advertising is in its infancy in England; but the convention sessions are expected to inaugurate a new era in which the science of advertising will be brought to a higher state of usefulness throughout Great Britain.

American advertising men, on the other hand, will be afforded an opportunity of studying business conditions abroad that should result in a distinct betterment of foreign trade. The knowledge of European conditions abroad that should result in a distinct betterment of foreign trade. The knowledge of European conditions and methods which the delegates will be able to obtain is expected to be of immense benefit to them.

To See Industries

Those in charge of the convention arrangements here are determined to "show England" to the delegates. To this end it is planned to take all of the visitors on an extensive tour of England's industrial centers. Factories, docks, shipyards, mines and other British commercial institutions and activities will be visited and opportunities afforded the delegates to make a thorough study of British industry.

On the program of the convention every phase of advertising in its relation to trade will be discussed by experts.

In addition to the British and American delegates, it is expected that at least 700 advertising men from the cities of Continental Europe will be present. Active "On-to-London" committees have been organized in every continental country, and the presence of these delegates will add to the international atmosphere of the convention.

Scenery on Program

Besides showing the delegates the industrial features of English life, it is planned to show them also the scenic attractions of the country, and visits will be made to the various beauty spots of the British Isles. An elaborate program of entertainment, including theatres, garden parties, banquets, receptions, etc., is being arranged, and for advertisers who golf the leading courses of England will be thrown open.

The convention will coincide with the British Empire Exhibition, the great world's fair in which all the British colonies and dominions will participate. Sessions of the convention are to be held in the convention hall at Wembley Park, where the exhibition is being arranged, and delegates will be privileged to see all of the features of the fair. Sessions of the convention will begin on July 14 and continue until July 19, the various excursions and entertainment features that are being planned being interspersed with the formal business meetings.

HARDING WROTE '30'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—The late President Harding was advised before his death of the character of his illness and the prospect that if he recovered it might only be to lead a life of invalidism, said Secretary Hughes in his memorial address. When informed of this, Secretary Hughes said, the president exclaimed: "Well, if that is so, this story might as well come to an end."

Here Is English As Spoken in Dear Ol' Lunnon Town

LONDON, Feb. 29.—American advertising men who are coming to London this summer to attend the International Advertising Convention, will have to start learning the English language again—that is, as spoken in England.

In a glossary prepared for the use of the American delegates the organizers of the convention explain innumerable English words and phrases and their American equivalent, as follows:

AMERICAN	ENGLISH
Ash can.	Dustbin.

Coal oil.	Paraffin.
Cracker.	Biscuit.
Fraternal order.	Friendly society.

SUBMARINE CAN SEE UNDER SEA BY NEW DEVICE

Italian Inventor Claims to Have Overcome Laws Of Refracted Light

ROME, Feb. 29.—Submarine warfare of the future will be revolutionized by the discovery of a young Italian naval expert, who claims to have discovered a process which will overcome the law of refraction and enable people to see under water.

The discoverer of the process is Professor Leandro Guglielmotti, scientist and naval expert, of Civitavecchia, who maintains that by the use of his process "submarines would be able to detect the presence of obstacles even with their periscopes totally submerged.

Professor Guglielmotti's apparatus fitted to submarines would, it is claimed, project shafts of invisible light through the water which would illuminate any body coming in the direction and radius of their rays and would act within a radius of from seven to nine hundred feet and at a depth of fifty feet.

"The first idea of this discovery came to me in 1916, when submarine warfare was at its height," said the professor in an interview.

"I realized how helpless submarines become once they are totally submerged, and it occurred to me how greatly their naval and strategic power would be increased if only a means could be found to enable the crews to see under water.

"The law of refraction of light presented an almost insuperable difficulty to this possibility. I had to call in the aid of another element, and after long studies and patient research I devised a method by which a line of light could be made to pierce the water and at the same time be invisible to aircraft watching overhead.

"I am confident that I have solved the problem which has been baffling scientists for years."

MARRIED PEOPLE MAY REDUCE TAX

Filing of Separate Returns Will Cut Amount of Income Payment

Announcing that income taxpayers of Southern California must file 14,000 returns daily up to the close of the filing period in order to avoid delinquency and the consequent penalties, Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell gave out two far-reaching rulings which enable married taxpayers to take full advantage of the provisions of the revenue act and materially reduce their taxes.

Collector Goodcell said that in the case of married persons a joint return reporting the income of both may be filed, or separate returns may be filed showing the income of each, if a specific agreement exists to the effect that the earnings and income of each are to be separate property. This does not apply to community property, however. If their combined net income is subject to the surtax, a married couple will pay a smaller tax by filing separate returns. For example, a husband's net income for 1923 was $7,000 and the wife's $3,000. If a joint return is filed the income is subject to a surtax of 1 per cent on the amount of net income between $6,000 and $10,000, or $40. If separate returns are filed, the husband's surtax is 1 per cent on the amount of his net income between $6,000 and $7,000, or $10. The wife, having a net income of less than $6,000, pays no surtax.

Exemption Ruling

In filing separate returns either husband or wife, but not both, may claim the personal exemption, or it may be divided between them in such amounts as they desire.

While the exemptions for married persons are $2,500 if their net income was $5,000 or less, and $2,000 if the net income was in excess of $5,000, Collector Goodcell pointed out that there is inserted in the revenue act a qualifying clause in justice to those persons whose net income just exceeded $5,000. The act provides that the reduction of the amount of the exemption shall not increase by more than the amount of net income in excess of $5,000, the tax which would be payable had the exemption been $2,500. For example, Mr. and Mrs. John Doe had a net income for 1923 of $5,010. Without the benefit of the above provision their normal tax would be $120.40 ($5,010 less $2,000 equaling $3,010 at 4 per cent). Their actual tax is $110.40 ($5,010 less $2,500 equaling $2,510 at 4 per cent, or $100.40, plus $10, the amount by which the net income exceeds $5,000). This provision has no application where the combined net income is $5,020 or more.

Financial Prestige of London in Balance

the allied powers had been defeated the center of world finance would have shifted to Berlin or Frankfort, and London would have been supplanted by Antwerp or Hamburg. In the eighties German industrialization began to make rapid progress, and for several years before the war German penetration, aided by the methods resembling those of the Hansiatic league and by our policy of free imports, had gone far toward control of some of our important industries. If dreams of military dominion had not captured the German imagination our financial position would have been steadily undermined, and we should have awakened to find that the superior direction of most of our industries had passed into the hands of aliens.

Future Vague

No wise man would attempt to forecast our financial future; but the omens are dark. The necessary cost of the war and the reckless extravagance which accompanied and followed it have gravely shaken our whole economic position. Our exports do not suffice for the needs of our overgrown population. Some of our industries are languishing. All suffer from a heavier burden of taxation than is borne by any other people. The pound sterling has given way to the dollar, which will remain the premier currency unless America is afflicted with internal troubles. The confidence which British finance won and held in foreign countries rests upon belief in our political stability and in our banking system. For many years nothing happened to shake that necessary confidence. The soundness of our banking system was tested in the war and not found wanting. It still commands general trust never having followed the Germans into political paths and into espionage. But our political stability is now directly menaced by a socialistic party in touch with foreign revolutionaries. A socialistic government may shortly be in power, and if a fraction of the economic program to which it is committed is ever translated into action the national credit will be destroyed, and the position of trust, as the world's financial center, which Britain has long held, will be lost—never to be regained.

TO KILL LIVESTOCK

OAKLAND, Feb. 29.—Plans have been completed here for the killing of approximately 10,000 head of cattle and hogs infected with the hoof and mouth disease, G. H. Hecke, state bureau of agriculture, announced.

The animals are confined in Alameda, Contra, Costa, Solano and Napa counties. Hecke said no traces of the disease have been found outside these counties, and he is hopeful of confining it.

The deer, weighing fifty-seven pounds, was given to the county hospital after G. O. Laws, game warden, gave A. G. Hirsch an order to bring the deer into town.

CHINESE BANDITS FLAYED TO DEATH

Missionary Describes Brutal Oriental Treatment for Prisoners

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 29.—Declaring that captured outlaws are being flayed to death, or beheaded, by the military, and that the situation is daily becoming more critical for Americans in the territory as the bandits retaliate by extending their reign of terror, Rev. Robert Whitaker, a graduate of the Baptist Theological Seminary at Berkeley and now a missionary in China, has written his father, William C. Whitaker of this city, giving a graphic portrayal of the bloody war being waged by government troops against Chinese bandits who are terrorizing Shantung Province.

Rev. Whitaker states that the heads of ninety-two bandits are mounted on the west gate of Lintsing City, four of the gruesome trophies having been severed from the bodies of Mongolian Amazons.

Describes Conditions

Writing from Linsting, the California missionary describes conditions as follows:

"Some three weeks ago, Colonel Wang Tzu P'in was sent here from Tungchangfu with 800 soldiers to suppress the bandits. General Hu, who was here before had supposedly exterminated them, but as a matter of fact he had merely driven them across the border into the Province of Chihli. The bandits waited a convenient occasion and then returned to our vicinity, but this time to be met by Colonel Wang with his 800 troops who drove them back to their old stronghold at Hu Chuang, just twenty-two miles north of this city. For several days fighting took place in this district between Lintsing and Hu Chuang, it being so near at times that the firing could be heard from our Compound.

Two Hundred Butchered

"Finally the bandits were surrounded and two hundred of them simply butchered. Ninety-two were beheaded, and at the present time those ninety-two heads decorate the entrance of the west gate of Lintsing City. Among these heads are four of women bandits.

"As if this were not enough, four days ago, a memorial service for the soldiers killed in the fighting was held, at which time three victims were tortured for over two hours, an immense crowd taking in the spectacle. From these living victims, their tormentors cut the ears, the nose, and then slices of flesh from different parts of the body."

The missionary stated that the Americans in the Shantung district have been notified by the American consul that they travel at their own risk and advising that they stay within the city walls.

Mystic Klan Formed to Absorb Ku Klux

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 29.—After formulating the nucleus of what is to be known as the "Knights of Mystic Klan," Ku Klux Klan "revolutionists" from thirteen states departed for their homes, leaving the matter of designing a ritualistic working basis in the hands of a board of seven governors.

Temporary headquarters for the new organization will be Kansas City. The board of governors will rule the Mystic Klan until the calling of another congress some time within the next six months.

The goal of this organization, as expressed by E. Y. Clarke, former imperial wizard of the Klan, is to take over the Ku Klux Klan.

Some of the purposes of the new organization, as set forth in the skeleton constitution on which the national order is to be founded, are:

Promotion of patriotism; maintenance of free education; right of trial by jury; restriction of immigration; founding of institutions for the cure of tuberculosis and cancer; establishing of a chain of banks for the help and relief of members of the association; building of homes, and unification of the white Protestant forces of the world.

Wounded Ducks Like 'Birds of a Feather'

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 29.—Game wardens in San Joaquin county report thousands of ducks, crippled but escaped victims of hunters, are gathered together in the sloughs of Victoria island in the delta of the San Joaquin river.

"This is the first time I ever heard of such an aggregation," said George Neale, secretary to the State Fish and Game Commission. "It is quite possible that the wounded ducks, unable to keep pace with their able-bodied consorts, dropped behind and gradually have come together. A duck unable to travel rapidly because of a wound naturally would alight where it saw other ducks, and the situation is easily explained in this manner."

Reports also have been received at the office of the State Fish and Game Commission that a similar situation exists on an island in the Sacramento river.

with the same sales people who have pleased you in the past, the same feeling of friendly good will, the same dependable merchandise you have learned to expect at Gordon's

Much to the regret of countless residents of Glendale who have learned to value his friendship quite as much as his unquestionable business integrity, Mr. Gordon, who is personally responsible for the success of this popular store, has decided to retire from active business for a time in order to recuperate from the unavoidable strain of a strenuous business career of many years.

His successor, Mr. T. V. Millea, widely known among the women of Southern California through his connection with the largest and finest mercantile establishments in Los Angeles, brings with him the keen judgment and merchandising ability acquired during eighteen years' experience as buyer of high class apparel for women, misses and children.

Although the name will be changed, Millea's will still pursue the well known, aggressive policy which has been directly responsible for the remarkable success of Gordon's up to the present time and will earnestly strive to retain and further merit the genuine approval of the women of Glendale by providing only the most desirable, dependable goods, yet cutting the margin of profit to the lowest possible point for the benefit of the customer.

"MILLEA'S" extends to all "GORDON'S" hundreds of patrons and friends a cordial invitation to visit us often—let us prove the sincerity of our desire to serve you honestly, fairly, always planning some fresh surprise in attractive new merchandise at prices lower than you expect!

As an expression of our enthusiasm in casting our lot with the people of Glendale—believing in the unrivaled opportunity this enterprising city offers for prospering and expanding in the near future—we are planning a week of unparalleled Value-giving!

DEALERS PLAN TO PUSH TAX FIGHT

Will Urge Senators from California to Vote for Reduction

Members of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' Association will carry their fight for a reduction of the federal excise automobile tax to the United States senate, it was decided by the members of the board of directors at the meeting held yesterday at the Egyptian Village. Every member of the association will be asked to write the senators from California and urge them to get behind the tax reduction bill and vote in favor of it.

The directors counted their victory half won when word was received yesterday that the House of Representatives had abolished the 3 per cent tax on small motor trucks and cut the present 5 per cent tax on automobile tires, repair parts and accessories to half. The action of the House, it was reported, meant a saving of $23,000,000 to American motorists.

A resolution passed by the directors yesterday asking a reduction of the auto tax, will be sent to the California senators by the organization in addition to the individual appeals of the members, Miller B. Towman, secretary of the association, said.

Will Mean More Sales

In the discussion which preceded the passing of the resolution, the directors agreed that the tax was a burden to automobile purchasers and had a tendency to retard sales. Increased business in all lines, it is believed, will follow the final passage of the tax reduction law.

Plans for starting a campaign to sell used cars now in the hands of dealers of Glendale, were discussed by the directors, following an address on used cars by Lyman P. Clark, chairman of the used car committee of the association.

William Hunter, president of the organization, who presided at the meeting yesterday, announced the next regular meeting would be held at the Egyptian Village on Wednesday, starting at 12:15 o'clock.

HEADS U. S. SHIPPING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—T. H. Rossbottom, general manager of the United States lines, will be given complete charge of operating the system, it has been announced by the shipping board. Rossbottom will take over the duties formerly held by William J. Love, who resigned as vice-president of the emergency fleet corporation.

Shift in Navy Is Blamed on Teapot Dome Oil Leases

Admiral Griffin (above) and Admiral Robison

The scandal surrounding the leasing of the naval reserves has extended to naval officers as well as civilian officials. As long as Admiral Robert S. Griffin was head of the bureau of engineering of the navy he made attempts to block the transfer control of the reserves to the interior department, but when he retired and was succeeded by Rear Admiral John K. Robison the transfer was made. This was revealed in the senate probe by Senator Walsh of Wyoming, who said that after a conference with Doheny Admiral Robison became imbued with the necessity of leasing the reserves, adding that it was "a striking coincidence that among all the officers of the navy Admiral Robison was put in charge of the oil reserves."

Mother Trudges Thousand Miles To Her Sick Son

Mrs. Mary Hansen

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 29.—Kipling must have had a mother like Mrs. Mary Hansen in mind when he wrote "Mother o' Mine."

When the aged woman learned of the serious illness of her son in Detroit she was in Sioux Falls, S. D., without funds to come to him by rail. Not daunted, she set on foot to traverse the 1,000 miles. With the aid of lifts tendered by sympathetic motorists she arrived here two weeks after she started. Now she is at her son's bedside, helping him fight his way back to health.

This is not the first time Mrs. Hansen has undertaken such a journey for her son. When he was in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., she made her way from Montana to Washington, largely on foot, to lay an appeal for his liberation before the president. The boy was freed later.

REPLIES TO CANADA

RESENTS ATTACK ON OREGON LAWS

Former Resident of State Objects to Statements About Text Books

Editor of The Evening News.

Dear Sir: Will you please accord me space in your paper to refute the statements of George S. Parmele regarding Oregon's school text books, published in your issue of February 27, 1924?

Mr. Parmele is quoted as saying: "The text books in use in the Oregon public schools teach the children to lie, cheat and scheme."

This statement is a rank untruth, and slanders Oregon's citizenship, and especially so her public school teachers. I have been a citizen of Oregon for twenty-two years, and my children were educated in her public schools, and I have yet to find any text book on any subject that will not rank favorably with any subject matter in any other state.

Our school system and text books will stand comparison with any in the nation, and our youth are as clean, morally, mentally and physically as you can find on earth.

Cites World War Work

This was proven during the World war, for our young manhood ranked first in volunteers; they were judged the cleanest manhood in the nation, and our citizens were first over the top in every Liberty loan. Liars, cheaters and schemers do not build records like that. If they do, the rest of the states might profitably copy Oregon's methods.

Mr. Parmele also assails the Oregon compulsory school law. A majority of Orgeon's voters wrote into the state statutes the ideal that the United States public schools were good enough for every child.

Those who are out of harmony with that ideal may exercise their privilege of choice, and when they move out of Oregon they will only make room for a higher class of citizens who recognize that loyalty to their Creator will always create a finer loyalty to their government, whether local, state or national.

Thanking you for your kind indulgence, I am,

EVA HARDY,
208 South Orange Street.

Diet and Health

CONFESSIONS OF A BABY

Last week I told you about how comically anxious my Daddy was when he got his first look at me and thought his first born was a little unlovely in shape, especially his head, and how Doctor assured him that everything was all normal and that in reality I was a perfect child. My head must have looked something fierce, but it was all right in a few weeks.

Doctor wants me to tell you today a little more about our heads and what you can do to help them get in good shape again. First, you must not have us lie on our backs all the time. If we do we are very apt to have flat heads in the back. We must lie on our sides and on our tummies part of the time.

The reason the people of the Balkans and other eastern states, and the Indians, have flat heads in the back is not from inheritance, but because of the practice of binding the babies down in their cradles or on boards, flat on their backs. The heavy head with its still soft and moldable bones is compressed into this flattened shape.

Our head bones, as well as our other bones, are not all complete or ossified when we are born. They are not joined at the edges; and in the front a little above the brow, and another place toward the back of the head, there were two good sized spaces where the bones are not grown in. They are called the anterior and posterior fontanel. Mothers usually call them "soft spots," but now you know the name of them. There are some other little fontanels at the corners of the other bones, but these are the two which you can easily see.

The anterior fontanel is much larger than the posterior, being from an inch to an inch and a half in diameter, while the posterior fontanel is about a half inch in diameter.

There are membrane plates for these spaces, made of three layers, the upper and lower layers being extensions from the membranes covering and lining the head bones, and the middle layer made of a tissue containing many very tiny blood vessels. Into this middle layer the bone cells from the edges of the head bones begin to multiply and extend themselves, until gradually our "wide open spaces" are filled in, and the fontanels and the sutures (where the bones join at the edges) become hard bony tissue.

It takes about 18 months for our anterior fontanels to fill in. If we suffer from rickets they may not fill in until much later than that. Occasionally they will close up too soon in that disease. Our posterior fontanels are usually filled in when we are about three months of age.

You've heard of people having the "big head," haven't you? It must have originated with us, for we sure do have the big head when we are first born. Our heads average a half inch larger around than our chests. Think of that! For instance, the average baby's chest is about 13 inches around and its head is 13½ inches. And we keep our heads about as big as our chests until we are quite some lads and lassies, from a year on when our chests begin to outstrip our heads, but not more than an inch or two until after we are four or five years old. We begin to hold up our heads at about three months.

Sometimes we are born with hardly any hair on our heads, and other times we have heavy heads of hair. Our first hair is very apt to come out during the first two or three weeks, but it grows in again rapidly as the old hair is lost. It may not be the same color, though. It may be lighter or darker than when we were born. More often it is darker.

Sometimes babies will remain bald for quite a little while, and their parents begin to worry and think they will never have any hair. We may become bald on the spot where our heads lie most often. Doctor knew a baby once that had a bald spot on the side of his head, too high to be caused from lying on it. His parents were much concerned about it, but one day they noticed that when he was crying lustily he was also pulling his hair on that side!

Next week I'll tell you more about us when we are first born.

A. SOCKUMS.

GATEKEEPER OF SOCIAL HEAVEN

Paves Way To Presentation At British Court

Mrs. Post Wheeler

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—In London they call Mrs. Post Wheeler "St. Peter." She is in this country now for a visit of several months.

Mrs. Wheeler is the wife of the counselor of the American embassy at the Court of St. James.

It is Mrs. Wheeler who most often leads American women to the heaven of exclusive society in the presentations at court.

She is the keeper of the golden keys, so to speak, for the embassy diplomatically passes on the women seeking a royal introduction, and Mrs. Wheeler, because of her long residence at the court, has much to say as to who will be who in the Who's Who of society as far as presentations at court are concerned.

America is a democracy, but its society goes to the royal court of England for social recognition.

Officially Mrs. Wheeler ranks second among the women of the embassy, the wife of the ambassador, Mrs. Kellogg, taking precedence. But ambassadors are in London today and gone tomorrow, while Mrs. Wheeler and her husband stay on and on.

Mrs. Wheeler has high standing in the literary world as well as in society. As Hallie Erminie Rives she is the author of a number of best sellers, including "Hearts Courageous," "The Kingdom of Slender Swords," "The Long Lane's Turning" and others.

Mrs. Wheeler is a native of old Kentucky. She married Post Wheeler in Tokyo in 1906.

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

SPRING TONICS

I am rather ahead of the season suggesting spring tonics today. But winter is practically over though it has an extra day tucked into it this year, and before March is well under way a good many readers will be writing me asking me what to do for the red blotches suddenly appearing on their skins.

When you take a spring tonic you take something to clear the blood and to make it thinner. You do not want to start just yet, wait a fortnight then begin the treatment. Take either sulphur and molasses, which is a good old-fashioned, if somewhat strenuous tonic, or sulphur tablets or dandelion tea or some special preparation recommended by your family doctor, but take something to thin and purify the blood which the starchy diet of winter has made thick and rich. You might go on a diet of oranges, this is excellent, for oranges are mildly laxative and rich in vitamines. One or two oranges a day may be enough, or you may be able to take half a dozen, you must use your own judgment. The best way is to squeeze the juice into a glass and add sugar to it.

The old-fashioned sulphur and molasses tonic is made by mixing one part flower of sulphur and two parts molasses or corn syrup. You take a teaspoonful a day for three days and then you stop for three days. Take it for three more and stop, and repeat it for another three days if you think you need it. It is apt to bring a number of pimples out on the face the first few days, but it leaves the skin so beautifully clear afterwards that a few days' discomfort does not matter. It is much more than a laxative, no amount of ordinary laxative would ever give the skin the clear, peach-bloom quality that this old-fashioned remedy does. If you do not want to take tonics, at least change your diet for a few weeks. Eat less meat and potatoes, and more salads and greens.

Jennie L. K.:—The best way to reduce a double chin is to reduce all over, for a double chin is generally a sign of too much flesh. Meantime, daily ice rubs, ten minutes long, will help.

Dorothy, Esther—Red noses usually come from digestive troubles which you can remedy by diet. Cut off as much of the bleached hair as you can spare, and the recovery to the natural shade will be hastened. Ask the librarian at your public library for the best books on modern dancing. Lemon juice is a simple bleach for these light freckles. If it smarts dilute it with a little water.

Tomorrow — Pilocarpine Hair Tonic

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

A SACRED LOVE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am away from home and in a good school. I have fallen in live with a girl my own age. I know that she likes me as well if not better than any other boy here. Yet she hesitates to go with me on account of something some folks said to her father. He doesn't care if she goes with a boy two or three times, but if more than that checks it. He is a good man. What shall I do? Shall I keep on hoping?

My love for her is in the sacred stage now. It has come to be a sacred devotion for her. I have loved other girls but none like this one. I heard she was sick once and I worried for several weeks until I found that she was all right. L. M. P.

Love for boys and girls in school is not considered as desirable as friendship. I would advise you to tame down your affection and try to think of the girl more in the terms of friendship than love. If her father knew how you felt, there would be little chance that he would consent to his daughter seeing you. But if you talk to the father and try to straighten out the trouble resulting from talebearing, he may let his daughter go with you. Come to an understanding with him before you give up hope.

SHE ISN'T POPULAR

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young lady who has never been very popular with the boys. I don't know why as I always try to act nice. Some people say I am too hard to please and therefore never keep a fellow very long. Why is this?

Not long ago I became acquainted with a young man who was popular and very nice-looking. He treated me well and seemed to like me. I was with him several times and grew to like him very much.

A girl friend and her friend and this boy and I were intending to take several trips when all at once he never asked for another date. I was sorry and I was not aware of anything I had done to offend him.

Please tell me how I can regain his friendship.

LONESOME BEE.

Your friends are trying to flatter you when they say you are too hard to please and therefore never keep a fellow very long. That might be true if you dropped the young men who call on you. But since they stop going to see you, that explanation does not stand the test of a little reasoning. It may be that you are a little too eager. Don't let the young men who come to see you know how much their attentions mean to you. Sometimes a boy misunderstands a girl's intentions and is afraid of becoming too deeply involved. It is never wise to urge a boy to call or to suggest amusements. The average boy claims the privilege of making suggestions himself. Try to analyze yourself. Do not be soft and charitable toward your failings. If you try to see yourself as others see you, you may be able to discover why you do not retain friendships.

DIMPLES—I hardly believe the boy's love for you is very deep since he dropped you. Try to think of love in the "teens" as a fickle thing and do not rely too much on its endurance. Since you care for him, however, you might give him another chance.

destroyed. They are all perfectly good to be used again—if only the housekeeper will have a little system in preserving them!

Tomorrow—"Just How" to Make a Good Clear Soup.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

With the Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

One of the prominent women attending the meeting of women leaders of the Democratic party in Cleveland recently was Mrs. Ben Hooper, of Oshkosh, Wis., Mrs. Hooper was a candidate for the United States Senate in the 1922 elections, and although she was defeated made a record run, polling 26,000 more votes than the man who ran for governor, although she was a "bone-dry" candidate in a notoriously wet state. Mrs. Hooper is now carrying on an enthusiastic campaign in the cause of world peace, and is delivering lectures throughout the country on this subject.

MRS. HOOPER

She addressed the Non-partisan League of Nations association in Cleveland recently. She is convinced that the women of the world must be the ones to stop warfare.

At a luncheon of the Australian Natives' association at a Fleet Street hotel, says the London Times, Dame Meriel Talbot, who is in charge of the Society for the Overseas Settlement of British Women, said a party of fifteen young women, who were of the finest type of English girls, some having been brought up at Cheltenham and Girton colleges, would shortly be going overseas to do domestic work because they realized there was no place for them in the old country.

ADVERTISE FLEET SALE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—The United States Shipping Board has advertised for sale its fleet of 1335 passenger and cargo vessels. These ships will be sold under terms almost identical of those offered for sale last year.

Every housekeeper who has children knows the confusion that attends the arrival of the various holidays of the year, when the young people scurry about to collect appropriate favors, decorations or gifts with which to celebrate the occasion. The methodical mother-housekeeper, however, uses the box system of preparedness for these festive days. She keeps in her attic a pile of boxes marked Christmas, New Year's, St. Valentine's, St. Patrick's day, April Fool's day, Easter, May day, Hallowe'en, Thanksgiving — in fact, marked with all the annual holidays. In each of these boxes she has last year's favors and decorations carefully laid away for the children to use when wanted.

The Christmas box, for instance, contains all the Christmas tree decorations, together with images of Santa, imitation holly and other yuletide favors.

In the New Year's box one will find all the New Year's cards received last season, each one neatly erased of finger marks and penciled names—ready to be sent out to someone else next January first.

The St. Valentine's box holds a roll of red crepe paper and odds and ends of tinfoil saved from candy boxes and cakes of sweet chocolate; these the children will need for making their valentines when the season comes around again. This box also contains the valentines which the children received last year and which are good enough to send out to some other child next year.

The St. Patrick's day box is filled with emerald green favors from the last St. Patrick's party—small harps, shamrocks, green paper streamers which perhaps were used on the refreshments table.

The April Fool's day box contains little jokes and suggestions kept over from last April first. Here one may find the imitation cigar which fooled father and the rubber banana which fooled mother.

And so it goes on, with the other seasons. It is a pity to let these little seasonal favors get lost or

Faculty Frolic with Funny Folks Tonight

All is in readiness for the raising of the curtain tonight on the second annual "Faculty Frolic." The time is 8:15 o'clock. The place is the new Broadway High school auditorium.

The show is described by Harold L. Brewster, general director, as a "vaudeville sandwich"—a rich spread of entertainment, between two generous slices of music by the Glendale Union High school orchestra, the latter in charge of Mrs. Dora L. Gibson.

Of particular interest will be a special black-face act, and some startling jazz innovations are promised. Mr. Brewster says hundreds of students are going to avail themselves of this opportunity to see their teachers perform.

"And tickets are going fast," says he. "Better go to Roberts & Echols' drug store right away, 102 East Broadway, and make your reservation, or send the high school a hurry call. Don't miss it—it's good!"

LINES OF QUARANTINE

FRESNO, Feb. 29.—The state department of agriculture has decided to lift the provisional quarantine established on Sunday as a result of serious outbreaks of the hoof and mouth disease among livestock of north and bay regions, from Fresno county. The order temporarily lifts the ban from Fresno county and all territory south of here, but quarantine remains effective from the north line of Fresno county northward.

CHICAGO, Feb. 29.—Justice is no blind goddess in the Stockyards police court. If she is cock-eyed, at times, it is from honest laughter, for the stern lady of the sword and scales becomes in that district a buxom, boisterous dame who can laugh until she cries and is not ashamed of crying without laughing. She may read Blackstone, but she prefers Buccacio.

The Stockyards District furnishes ample grist for Judge Peter H. Schwaba and the mill wherein he grinds out humor with justice and human understanding with both.

For example:

Adolph Feger stood before him with darkly circled eyes and that wry look which bespeaks an unseparable taste in his mouth.

"You've been drunk and you look it," observed the jolly magistrate. "Go to a photographer, have a dozen unretouched photographs taken, write across them, 'This is what moonshine did to me.' Put one on your dresser to look at each morning. Give me one for others to see. And to be sure you do it, I'll fine you $100 and suspend the fine."

Adolph was brought in by his wife, who asked the judge to make a man of her husband, since he was so successful in "making a lady of me."

Again, a sufferer who proved at his stomach's expense that prohibition doesn't prohibit stood before him. The officer explained that the prisoner was supporting his old mother.

"Well, the mother probably would be the chief suffered if I fined him or sent him to jail," said Judge Schwaba, and turning to the prisoner:

"Go buy your mother a half dozen American beauties and a box of candy. Come back here with the receipt for both."

Another inebriate (strong proponents of the "Yards" district are referred to the court records) was Elmer Spetz. He said he had "taken too much at a christening."

"But he's drunk every day," protested his brother, O. J. Spetz.

Proving, I suppose, that the Chicago birth rate is at least a baby a day," commented Judge Schwaba, placing Spetz under suspended sentence of $100 fine, combined with six months probation.

She was rouged and her eyes tear-stained.

"Judge, I want a warrant for my husband. He left me and the two children and has gone to live at another place. I want you to make him come back."

"Why the rouge?" querried the judge.

"I'm too old-fashioned," the young wife answered. "I—well, I went to a beauty parlor today for the first time."

"Nonsense!" barked Schwaba. "Don't you believe it! There's too many flappers now. You go home and wipe that rouge off quick," and signing the required warrant, "and when your husband comes back sing him 'I'm Not the Kind of Girl That Men Forget.'"

A twelve-year-old boy appeared sobbing before the judge and asked him to make his mother stop drinking moonshine.

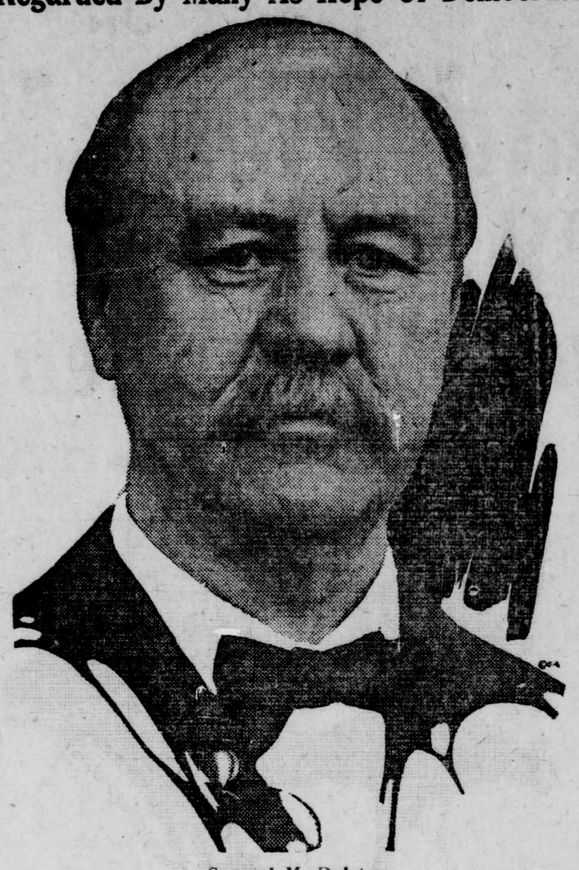

"I heard you could make people do things, judge," he sobbed. "I wish you'd make my mother stop drinkin'. I can tell you where she gets it."

He turned the addresses over to the judge, who turned them over to two court officers, who left the court room at once under instructions to close those places and arrest the men running them.

Justice, in the Stockyards Police Court, is an open-eyed buxom dame, who can laugh or cry while he spanks her luckless ones.

RALSTON MAY LAND NOMINATION

Regarded By Many As Hope Of Democrats

Samuel M. Ralston

By JOHN T. LEWING, JR.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—In Washington they are betting on Coolidge and Ralston.

There is a well-founded belief around the capitol that Calvin Coolidge will win the Republican nomination for the presidency on the first ballot, and that the Democratic nomination, after some intricate maneuvers, will be deposited upon the broad shoulders of Samuel M. Ralston, senator from Indiana.

Of course McAdoo isn't out of it entirely. But a lot of prominent Democrats connected with the organization believe that he has been seriously compromised in the eyes of the voters by his connection with the oil lease cases, and that this is the year of all years when the Democrats must have a nominee without any weak sides.

McAdoo's friends insist that the disclosures will not hurt him. As one of them said, "When McAdoo left office he said he was a poor man and needed money. He had a right to take it, so long as it was not for anything crooked, and nobody has connected him with crooked work for Doheny. If he comes out of this mess all right he will be strong. Railway labor is for him, and some of the big leaders are friendly."

But there is no assurance that railway labor is for him. One high official of one of the largest unions is quoted as saying that the oil disclosures have hurt McAdoo with the men.

Ralston was elected senator from Indiana in 1922 after having served as governor. He restored the state to the Democratic column in a Republican year. A notable record as governor is given as the reason. He took office with the state in debt and left it with a big surplus. His methods were not followed by the succeeding administration, and Indiana again went into debt heavily.

Political hunch-players see a good omen in the fact that Ralston was born in Ohio, the state that gave Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Benjamin Harrison, McKinley, Taft and Harding to the White House.

His ancestors, Scotch, came to this country in 1753. His forbears were farmers, and he is a large owner of farming land.

Ralston is a member of the law firm of Ralston, Gates, Lairy, Van Nuys and Barnard, one of the most important in the Middle West. Some of his partners are strong Republicans, Van Nuys is a former Democratic state chairman.

"I am a Master Mason, a Sahara Grotto Mason, a Knight of Pythias, an Elk, a Presbyterian, and a Democrat," he wrote recently, in answer to a query.

Something of a hint as to how he stands with Democrats in the Senate was given when he made his maiden speech the other day.

The Republican side of the Senate was virtually empty. The Democratic side was packed. They were all present to estimate him as a future possible Democratic national standard bearer. It was a tryout run for a proposed Democratic runner.

At the end of it this amazing scene gave way to a new amazement. Ralston's Democratic senatorial listeners burst into applause. Such an act by senatorial listeners on either side of the Senate is so infrequent as to be almost historical in importance.

Ralston is regarded as a conservative. Nevertheless Senator Wheeler, of Montana, and Senator Dill, of Washington, the two most radical Democratic senators in the Senate, joined their conservative colleagues in regarding Ralston's speech as thoroughly satisfactory from the general Democratic standpoint.

JOINT EASE for Stiff, Swollen Joints

RHEUMATIC OR OTHERWISE

Says: "When Joint-Ease Gets in—Joint Agony Gets Out."

It was a high-class pharmacist who saw prescription after prescription fail to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and stiff inflamed joints.

And it was this same man who asserted that a remedy could and would be compounded that would make creaky, swollen, tormented joints work with just as much smoothness as they ever did.

Now this prescription, rightly named Joint-Ease, after being tested successfully on many obstinate cases, is offered through progressive pharmacists to the millions of people who suffer from ailing joints that need limbering up.

Swollen, twingy, inflamed, stiff, pain-tormented joints are usually caused by rheumatism, but whatever the cause Joint-Ease soaks right in, through skin and flesh and gets right to and corrects the trouble at its source.

Remember Joint-Ease is for ailments of the joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, spine or finger, and when you rub it on, you may expect speedy and gratifying results.

It is now on sale at druggists everywhere for 60 cents a tube.—Advertisement.

Our Defense at Panama

Inadequate in Guns, Personnel and Other Essential Elements, Say Naval Authorities

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
For International News Service

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

EDITOR'S NOTE—Following is the fifth article of a series of six having to do with the Panama Canal, written expressly for International News Service.

COLON, Panama, Feb. 29.—The Panama Canal, from a commercial standpoint, pays—or rather is paying—while at the same time proving itself a good investment in national defense and national prestige.

Commercial traffic through the canal in the calendar year ending December 31, 1923, exceeded that in any previous year and, consequently, tolls paid to Uncle Sam were greater than ever.

The number of commercial vessels making the transit through the canal in 1923 were 5,037. Their aggregate net tonnage was 24,737,437 tons. They carried 25,160,545 tons of cargo and paid $22,966,838.18 in tolls.

Compared with 1922 the traffic in 1923 increased as follows: Number of ships, 68.07 per cent; tons of cargo, 83.51; tolls collected, 82.65 per cent.

Business is steadily becoming better. In fact, the canal business of the last two years showed a phenomenal growth and the most optimistic will make the prediction that such gains will continue. The principal reason attributed to the increase in business is the oil boom in California.

The month of December, 1923 was a record breaker. Five hundred and six commercial vessels made the transit of the canal in that month. This exceeded the previous high record, July, 1923, with 474 ships, by 32 vessels—over one a day. The average per day in December was 16.32.

The average daily collection of tolls for the month on all traffic was $75,348.11—the highest record for any month since the canal was in operation.

The ships coming through the canal fly the flags of many nations, American and British leading.

The Panama Canal cost the Government about $375,000,000. It is paying from a commercial standpoint, making a big profit over current expenditures, and is expected to pay more handsomely as the years go on. In addition its value from the viewpoint of national prestige and as a means of national defense is regarded as incalculable.

Aunt Josie, an old colored mammy, took advantage of a wedding announcement to question her mistress, who remained unmarried though approaching middle age.

"When is you gwine to git married, Missy Jane?"

"I don't know, mammy," was the thoughtful reply. "Really, I don't think I'll ever get married."

A note of sadness in the speaker's voice was disturbed by Aunt Josie's phliosophical return:

"Well, they do say as how ole maids am the happies' kind after they quits strugglin'."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE PAINTED CHAIR

"Uncle Wiggily, are you going to be in this afternoon?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, as she put on her bonnet and shawl one day in the hollow stump bungalow.

"Why, yes, I can stay in if you want me to," answered the rabbit gentleman. "I suppose it is no more than fair that I should stay in, once in a while, and let you go out looking for adventures," he added.

"Oh, indeed, I don't want any adventures," laughed Nurse Jane. "Don't think that for a moment! I'll leave adventures for you. But I did want to run down to the six and seven cent store to look at a new dishpan. And as I expect a chair to come home, I thought it would be well for some one to be here to answer the door."

"You expect a chair to come home?" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Why, have any of our chairs run away?" he asked, as he looked about the kitchen.

"No, but I bought a new chair yesterday," went on Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "It is a strong wooden chair for the kitchen. It is being sent home this afternoon. It may need painting, but you can do that in the spring when you paint the fence, as you always do."

"Yes, I suppose I can paint a well, Jane, hop along to the six will, Jane, hop along to the six and seven cent store and buy yourself a new dishpan. I'll stay home and take in the chair."

The muskrat lady housekeeper said this was very kind on the part of the rabbit gentleman. So away she hopped and, for a change, Uncle Wiggily remained at home in the hollow stump bungalow.

"I hope the chair comes home soon," he said to himself, twinkling his pink nose. "For, if it does, I can go out and have a little adventure. Goodness knows I need one!"

So he looked out of the window now and then, watching for the delivery wagon to come from the chair store. And, pretty soon, in a little while, not so very long, it rumbled up to the hollow stump bungalow.

The dog porter carried in a big, strong, white wooden chair, without any paint on, for it was new from the factory.

"It will give me a great deal of pleasure to paint that chair," said Uncle Wiggily to himself when the wagon had rumbled away. "I think I shall make it red."

Then Uncle Wiggily walked around the new chair, as it stood in the middle of the kitchen floor.

"No," went on the rabbit gentleman, speaking to himself as if he had money in the bank. "I think perhaps it would be better to paint it blue."

But the more he looked at it the more he thought that perhaps some other color would be better.

"Yellow is the color it needs to be painted!" cried Mr. Longears at last. "A bright, cheerful yellow, so it will look as though the sun were shining in our kitchen. I'll paint the chair yellow! And, what is more," he added, "I'll paint it now! I won't wait until spring! I have some paint down cellar and I'll stay in and paint that new chair this very day!"

No sooner said than done! Down cellar hopped the bunny, to come up in a few moments with his pot of yellow paint and a brush. Then, taking care to get none on his pink, twinkling nose, the rabbit began to color the new chair.

"Nurse Jane will be surprised when she sees it," he chuckled to himself.

Soon the chair was painted yellow. But as Uncle Wiggily looked at it he said:

"I'm sorry I didn't make it red! I know what I'll do, I'll paint some red stripes on it." So he did this. Then, as he stepped back to get a good look, he said: "I'm sorry I didn't make it blue. But I know what I can do—I'll paint some blue streaks on it."

So he put some red stripes and blue streaks on the yellow chair, on the back and on the seat. And while the red, blue and yellow paint was still wet, all of a sudden the door opened, and in popped the Woozie Wolf!

"Oh, ho!" howled the Woozie Wolf. "Why didn't you come out today, Uncle Wiggily? I have been waiting for you to hop out so that I might nibble your ears. I watched and waited, but you didn't come, so I had to come here! And I'm so tired! I must sit down and rest before I nibble your ears!"

Then, all of a sudden, before Uncle Wiggily could stop him, the Wolf sat down in the newly yellow painted, red striped and blue streaked chair. Right down in the wet paint sat the bad chap. Then, when he felt something was wrong, up he jumped. But such a funny sight as he was!

"Ho! Ho!" laughed the bunny. "You have red and yellow streaks on your trousers! Your coat is blue spots and your vest is yellow! Oh, you look like a rainbow turned upside down! Oh, what a sight!"

Then the Wolf, being very proud of his fine looks, felt so ashamed of himself, all red, blue and yellow streaked, striped and spotted as he was, that he tucked his tail between his legs and ran away.

"Ho! Ho!" laughed the bunny.

"This is my best suit and now it's all paint!" he wailed. "Oh! Oh! Oh!" But he didn't nibble the bunny, who soon painted the chair over again, and all was as it should be.

So if the pussy cat doesn't tie a pink ribbon around the little dog's neck and make him hide down in the salt cellar, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Aunt Lettie.

Cabbot Found America, Not Columbus, Is Claim

sizzle. Why, he sputtered, should Columbus, a foreigner, get credit for doing something that really was done by an adventurous Bristolite? So he wrote to Premier Macdonald to ask him to settle the question by decreeing that Cabot and not Columbus should be honored in the pageant.

"In view of the fact that John Cabot, of Bristol, with a Bristol ship and crew," wrote the mayor, "sailed from this port and reached North America in June, 1497, a year before Columbus touched the coast further south, if the discovery of America is attributed to Columbus it would be an historical inaccuracy which would cause great resentment in this historic city.

"John Cabot, although a Venetian by birth, was long a resident of our city, and his son, Sebastian, who was born here, was a notable merchant adventurer of this port. The Matthew, in which he sailed, was British and so was every member of its crew. This is to be a British empire exhibition, and Columbus has no connection with our country. He was a foreigner who sailed under a foreign flag, his enterprise being promoted by Spain."

Wasn't in 1492

Some bright American schoolboy, who recalls the couplet starting "In 1492 Columbus sailed the ocean blue," may pertly remark that the mayor of Bristol has his dates mixed. If Cabot did not approach the "stern and rock-bound shore" until 1497 it would seem that Christopher beat John to it by about five years. But Bristol's mayor contends that the histories have it wrong and that the date of Columbus's reputed discovery is as inaccurate as the entire Christopherian episode.

Just to satisfy his own patriotic fervor, the mayor further points out in his letter to Macdonald that the first governor of Newfoundland was an ex-mayor of Bristol; that the first Englishman to set foot in Australia sailed from Bristol; that the first settlers on the shores of the Hudson river hailed from Bristol, and that the first steamship to cross the Atlantic was Bristol-built and Bristol-owned. Surely, he argues, Bristol has done enough for the empire to deserve the prime minister's consideration in this Columbus-Cabot controversy.

Premier Macdonald has been busy with such matters as recognition of Russia, reparations, war debts, unemployment, etc., and has not had time as yet to give the Bristol mayor's request the consideration such a weighty problem deserves. The prime minister, however, undoubtedly has a chance to make a lot of friends for the Labor government in Bristol by enshrining John Cabot on the pedestal Christopher Columbus has occupied through the centuries.

A MEMORIAL TO OUR DEPARTED

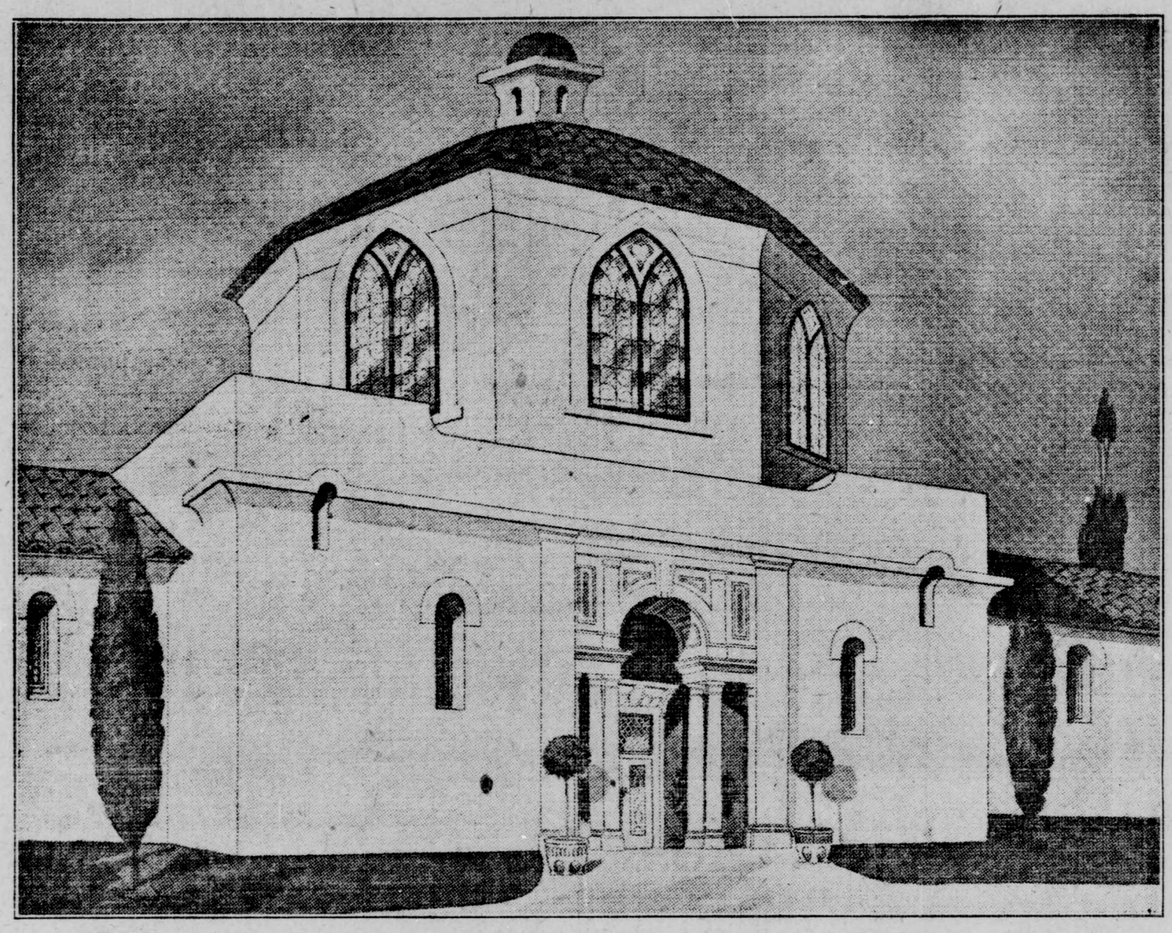

FIRST UNIT OF

Grand View Mausoleum

TO BE BUILT IN BEAUTIFUL

Grand View Memorial Park

"Glendale's Own Cemetery"

This is one of the things we can have when needed most—only by providing for it when needed least

There is nothing terrible in death;
'Tis but to cast our robes away,
And sleep at night without a breath
To break repose 'till dawn of day.

—Montgomery

REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD RESERVE SPACE IN THE GRAND VIEW MEMORIAL PARK MAUSOLEUM.

Because it is in keeping with the progress of the times.

The Mausoleum is a beautiful resting place for your loved ones, and it is a sane, practical, up-to-date mode of interment.

Fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters, husbands and wives can lie side by side in that long night of sleep, not an arm's length apart.

The Mausoleum will be strongly constructed, each compartment hermetically sealed, and will stand for ages, making it as secure as the Pyramids of Egypt or the Catacombs of Rome.

The Mausoleum will be endowed with a fund large enough to provide for its perpetual maintenance, thereby insuring the member's relatives, after death, against any assessment.

It is an opportunity to procure a suitable place for the departed on easy terms, while in health, thus avoiding the piled up expenses incident to death and burial.

The cost is much less than that of a lot, monument and grave excavation. Yet you have a monument which, for dignity, durability and magnificence, is unsurpassed.

First cost is last cost, and the investment is non-assessable and non-attachable.

It softens grief to know that we have prepared a place so that we are joined with our loved ones in death as in life, never to be disturbed.

The memorial is owned in its entirety by the people, paid for by the people, and is not a public building but a private memorial for those who reserve space in advance, therefore it is necessary to make reservations NOW.

Further information will be cheerfully furnished at any time by our representative.

'AUNT ADDIE' TO BE HOSTESS TO CLUB MEMBERS

Mrs. Harter, 89, Interesting Member of Sunset Club, Will Be Honored

"Aunt Addie" Harter, 89 years old, a dear old lady who lives at 234 South Jackson street, is one of the most interested members of The Glendale Evening News Sunset Club. Because she is a cripple and confined to her bed most of the time, she has never been able to attend any of the club meetings, so on Saturday afternoon, March 15, the club members are going to spend an informal social afternoon with her and her sister, Mrs. C. M. Sparr, in their little home.

Her name is Mrs. Adeline Harter, but her family and many friends have come to know her as "Aunt Addie," for she is an aunty to all of them and beloved by all for her sweet, patient disposition.

Born in Delaware county, Indiana, November 8, 1832, Adeline East spent her girlhood there and became the bride of Benjamin C. Harter. In 1876 the family moved to Florida and in 1891 came to California. They lived for twelve years in Ventura county and finally arrived in Glendale.

Returned to Glendale

Some ten years ago Mr. and Mrs. Harter returned to Florida and there Mr. Harter's death occurred. A little over three years ago "Aunt Addie" came back to Glendale to live with her sister.

She has one son, Carl Harter, who lives in Tampa, Fla. I. N. East of 213 South Jackson street is her brother.

So the Sunset Club old folks are going to meet two weeks from Saturday afternoon to spend an informal social hour with "Aunt Addie" and Mrs. Sparr. As is the custom at the club meetings, there will be no formal program, the time being devoted to visiting, reminiscing of old times and impromptu entertainment furnished by the members. Refreshments of ice cream and cake will be served.

Special Invitations Sent

Special invitations for the meeting will be sent to Mrs. May Rodway, 92 years old, of 325 North Howard street, who is to be one of the new club members; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Meckfessel of 610 North Jackson street, who recently celebrated their fifty-fourth wedding anniversary; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Bright of 319 North Maryland; Mr. and Mrs. William Grigg of 519 West Wilson avenue; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Tinkelpaugh of La Crescenta, who recently celebrated golden wedding anniversaries; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnson of 321 East Stocker street, newcomers to Glendale, and Alfred Morrison of 702 East Orange Grove avenue.

It is hoped that Jeffrey Wisner Gillette, Mrs. S. J. Lane, Joseph Olmsted, Mrs. Zilpha A. Parker, Mrs. Sarah Ellen Plannette, Mrs. A. E. Wallace and George M. Walton, club members who were not at the last meeting because of illness and other causes, can meet at Mrs. Harter's home.

Kirk Revels In Beauties Of Ancient Parthenon In Stay At Grecian Capital

That the Parthenon in Athens, Greece, is an object of great beauty is the declaration of W. B. Kirk in the letter herewith published. He writes:

W. B. KIRK

"Above us rose the Parthenon, at the apex of the hill, regarded as the acme of all beauty in architecture. Travelers whom we had met had expressed the opinion that we would be disappointed in the Parthenon after having seen such ruins as Baalbek and Karnak, but not so.

"Although the day was so adverse, the location, beauty and symmetry of this monument could not fail to be admired by anybody with the smallest conception of art.

"The iron in the marble has oxidized on the surface, which makes the exterior a dull yellow instead of the beautiful white of its interior, but its perfect lines and harmony render it an object of great beauty. The columns slope toward their tops, and the steps are a little concave so that they give a view of perfection in a way which is the despair of all architects.

"Within the Parthenon stood the statue of Athena (Minerva), 30 feet high, of ivory and gold, on the hand of which stood the statue of Victory, life size, six feet tall and of solid gold. From the pictures of the Parthenon you note that the columns at the ends are nearly all that remain.

"In 630 A. D. and for 400 or 500 years the Parthenon was converted into a Christian church, and later, under the Turks, was made into a Mohammedan mosque. In 1687, while it was being used by them for an ammunition storehouse, their enemies, the Venetians, blew it up with a bomb fired from the Hill of the Muses.

Beautiful Ruins

"The ruins of another very beautiful building are to the north of the Parthenon, called the Erectheion, consisting of a temple and two porticos. One of these porches has for columns carved female figures, called Caryatides, with baskets on their heads supporting the roof. They are unique and beautiful.

"Below the Parthenon to the east is a one-story stone building containing statues and reliefs, decorations, etc., all discovered on the Acropolis. It is called the 'Acropolis Museum.' The statuary in it is very unique, practically all being draped. We had never seen much of it and it is greatly to be admired.

"Unquestionably the nude has its place in art, but it is carried to shocking extremes in much of the painting and especially in the sculpture of Italy and France. This draped female statuary, especially, with its curls, graceful folds and fabric of shawl and dress, is charming.

"While we were delighted in being able to see the most renowned and important ruins of Athens, we regretted not being able to see other places, which are most interesting, such as the Stadium and National Museum in Athens, and to take excursions to Eleusis, Marathon and Phyle.

"Our quarters in Hotel Majestic in Athens were not comfortably warm, but such was probably the case in every other hotel there, and the fare was very good. The hotels are all crowded there now, so we couldn't complain.

"It was still cold, but clear, when we left Monday forenoon for Piraeus, where we boarded another ship, the 'Carnaro' of the Lloyd-Triestino line, for Venice. We had been tempted to take train instead, but could secure no reservation till Thursday, and the tales we have since heard of snowbound passengers in Jugo-Slavia make us feel that we made a wise choice in coming by water.

"If you will consult a map you will see that Greece is almost cut in two by the sea, and the Corinth canal completes the waterway. Landslides have blocked this canal and it will be a year or so before it is again open, the government lacking funds to finish it earlier.

"So we sailed clear around the Peloponnesian peninsula, which required about twenty-four hours longer than it would have taken through the canal. Toward evening on Monday the temperature grew warmer, but on Tuesday the weather was rainy and the sea rough.

"Although we had a good boat, the heavy seas made her roll badly. I have become a real sailor and don't miss any more meals.

"Our first stop was at the Island of Corfu, recently in the public eye, which we reached Wednesday morning. Although the weather was rainy, some of us went ashore in a rowboat, enjoying the chance to stretch our legs and see a little of the town.

Old Forts Useless

"Two picturesque old forts occupy hills close to the sea, but are long since obsolete. It was told by the manager of the Near East Relief there that a sergeant and squad could have captured the town and island, and that there was absolutely no excuse for the bombardment by the Italian fleet, which resulted in the killing and injuring of helpless people.

"All these islands are pretty and fertile and Corfu has some 100,000 population. The weather reports, which we received in Corfu, were not reassuring. Two smaller Greek steamers had been lying there for two days, being afraid to venture out into the Adriatic. Toward evening we

CONSERVE WATER FOR IRRIGATION, PLEA TO PUBLIC

Power Plant Head Suggests Every Care Be Used to Meet Emergency

Returning from a meeting of Edison managers held in Los Angeles yesterday to discuss the power situation, D. H. Rowan, district manager in this territory, said that plans are now being made to curtail certain classes of service so that all the power available may be used for essential purposes and the water conserved for the benefit of irrigators.

"This is the driest season on record for fifty years," Mr. Rowan said, "and is by far the driest ever experienced since waterpower has been used for generating electricity. Throughout the winter the company has made the most conservative use of its waterpower plants and has carried the bulk of the load with its steam reserves. During the last month every available steam plant has been brought into service, including many that were considered obsolete, but which have proven very useful in this emergency.

Sources of Power

"Power is being received by the Edison system through its interconnections from plants in San Diego, Riverside, Pasadena, Santa Barbara, Visalia and also from a number of smaller plants belonging to private concerns which have generously loaned them to the Edison company. A considerable block of power is also being received from San Francisco by way of a connection with the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation.

"Work is being rushed on our new steam plant at Long Beach which will contribute 110,000 horsepower to our system about next January. The first unit of this plant will be ready in July. Work at Big creek and on the Florence lake tunnel is being crowded ahead of schedule so that the Edison system will be in excellent shape to meet all requirements next year.

Need Co-Operation

"The situation will require the full co-operation of all users of power in order to take care of the condition brought about by water shortage. All classes of manufacturers and industrial plants have signified their desire to help out in this emergency.

"Industrial plants are being urged to reduce their consumption of power so that more will be available for ranchers, and the ranchers are being requested to adjust their irrigation so that a minimum amount of water will be used.

"Our patrons may be assured that every effort is being made to supply power for essential purposes, and through the complete co-operation of all power users, which might develop into a water shortage which would seriously affect agriculture, will be so handled that none should suffer."

PUSH PLANS FOR TIGER DORMITORY

Expect to Start Work on Women's New Building Before Next June

Plans for the new women's dormitory building given to Occidental college by Dr. William Meade Orr of Alhambra are progressing rapidly and it is expected ground will be broken and the building well under construction before the June Commencement. This building, which is a memorial to Mrs. William M. Orr, will cost about $400,000. Dr. Orr has already given $150,000 for the first unit which is to be erected immediately.

The dormitory will be complete in every detail, and equipped with the finest and most modern conveniences of any hall for women in the country. Mr. Orr, Mr. and Mrs. William Benson of Passaic, N. J., Miss Jane Benson and President and Mrs. Remsen Du Bois Bird are leaving today for an extended trip along the coast to study recently constructed dormitories in other institutions. While in San Francisco they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Almer M. Newhall of the Occidental board of trustees; William Mayo Newhall, president of the board of directors of Stanford university, and A. W. Foster, president of the board of regents of the University of California at Berkeley.

The building will be carefully planned, not only for the housing of the resident students, but also for the establishment of a social center on the campus for the use of all the women of the college. There will be a dining hall, outdoor tennis courts, and possibly a swimming pool. The work will be finished in time for the fall term next September.

The meeting is to be held under the auspices of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, and the officials of the Glendale Merchants' Association have agreed to merge their regular weekly meeting with that at which Mr. Klagstone will speak.

In addition to the directors and committee chairmen of the Chamber of Commerce, the members of the City Council will also be present, and invitations have been sent to the presidents and secretaries of the various civic clubs.

FIRE STATIONS REPORT HELD UP

Absence of Two Councilmen Delays Account of New Safety Manager

Councilman Asa Hall, recently placed in charge of the department of public safety, vice W. A. Horn, resigned, reported at the adjourned meeting of the City Council yesterday afternoon that he had been in conference with Fire Chief A. H. Lankford, but, due to the absence of Councilmen Sam Davis and C. E. Kimlin, his report was withheld until the next regular meeting.

It is understood that Mr. Hall's report will include the recommendation that the personnel of the department be increased by the addition of four men at stations Nos. 1, 2 and 3, and two men at station No. 4.

More Apparatus Needed

While the department is recognized as being efficient according to the National Board of Underwriters, additional equipment is needed to meet the needs of the rapidly increasing population.

The entire force of the department at the present time consists of twenty-five men, which, according to Councilman Hall, is far below the minimum which should be established in this city. The equipment is also inferior to that of other cities of this size, and he will urge the council to take steps immediately to add to the number of trucks which are in operation.

Plan P.-T. A. Auxiliary for Fathers Tonight

Fathers of children attending the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school have been called to a meeting at the school tonight for the purpose of organizing a fathers' auxiliary of the Parent-Teacher Association. The meeting will be at 7:45 o'clock.

R. M. Ferguson, president of the Broadway Fathers' Auxiliary, a record-making organization, and Mrs. H. A. Thimm, president of the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school, will be present and speak.

After organization is effected Harvey R. Cheesman, local Boy Scout executive, will show three films, one a comedy and the others on Scouting. Following this will be demonstrations by a troop of Scouts, singing and an informal social hour.

Toast making in a hotel is simplified by an electric grill that automatically and simultaneously turns twelve pieces of toast when they are brown enough.

OFFICIALS SEEK RAINMAKER'S AID TO HIT DROUGHT

Glendale Man's Services May Be Secured to Break Long Dry Spell

Charles M. Hatfield, famous rainmaker who for over twenty years has periodically been called upon to break droughts, has been appealed to by E. Van Lurven, a Colton rancher, to end the present dry season and may be called from his present employment with the Glendale Music company at 109 North Brand boulevard to go to San Bernardino county, at the instance of the county supervisors there, in an effort to bring rain by his own peculiar methods.

Interviewed yesterday afternoon, Mr. Hatfield admitted being approached by San Bernardino county officials and said that officials of Ventura county had also approached him.

Promises Rain

"I can break the drought all over Southern California in three days," he declared. "My method is scientific and in accordance with the laws of nature. I have devoted practically a lifetime of study to this matter and have found a way to co-operate with such natural conditions as humidity, barometric pressure and elevation, to produce rain.

"There is nothing mysterious about my work. Nature responds willingly and freely to man's artificial stimulus. What I start, with my process of chemical evaporation, by means of towers, nature takes up and finishes. Nature does 99 per cent of the work. I take credit only for adding the first little push that gets things going."

Charles M. Hatfield works with his brother, Paul A. Hatfield, in producing rain. Both have been partners in the development of the process for many years. Both are employed by the Glendale Music company.

On Top of Windmill

They started their work in 1898, conducting their first test from the top of a windmill on their father's ranch in San Diego county. Rain followed this first test within three days, they declare. They later broke droughts in 1903, 1904 and 1905, gradually perfecting their method until on March 1, 1912, they broke one of the most disastrous dry spells in the history of the Southwest, working for the Lake Hemet Land and Water company of Riverside.

If you Put Your Ear to the Ground You Will Find That—

Industrial lots in and around Glendale are scarce.

That the ground available for this purpose is limited.

Couple with this the growing demand for locations for manufactories and you have in a nutshell the reason for the popularity, for investment reasons, of the limited number of sites of this character in—

Central Manufacturing District

Conservative investors are looking today at this wonderful section. They see in these lots the soundest investment in Glendale today. They are aware of the fact that when these lots are gone no more of this character will be available in Glendale.

That's why they are buying lots in the Central Manufacturing District.

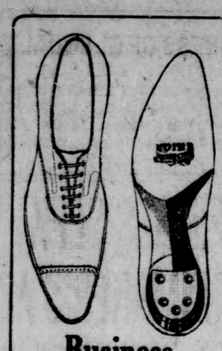

A good way to make money is to follow the man who knows, realizing that the man who has made a success of his investing usually "looks before he leaps."

You can't go wrong at Central Manufacturing District, the most promising section of the wonderful San Fernando road.

Let me tell you WHY.

Romancers In Real Life
Their Puzzling Cases
Yes, Business Is Good
Seeking New Speed Record

By Gil A. Cowan

Strange stories sometimes are told by impressionable young women. Sometimes stranger stories are told by children. And Glendale has had its share of romancers in the memory of the writer. They have provided wonderful "copy" for news stories, and the gullible public believed them. For it is not nice to call a lady a liar in cold type. It is her prerogative to conceal something, or many things. Nor is it nice to impugn the statement of a child until it is proved untrue, yet there is opportunity always to write between the lines, to see behind the veil of secrecy and finally fathom the innermost depths.

These romancers are baffling types, as a rule. Usually they combine fact and fancy, and one knows not where fiction begins and truth ends. Sad to say, these people usually worry the police, and upon them falls the brunt of investigation, such as has been the most current case. Newspapermen also are kept running around in circles, exploding this, that and the other theory.

The little Irish lad, who left a parochial school in Long Beach ten days ago and came to Glendale "on his own," claiming to have relatives here, and being cared for by good people, was another recent example of romancing. Likely he will never stop smiling over Ed Radke's efforts to get him back where he belonged.

Two years ago a little San Pedro girl was found by the roadside in a dazed condition. And what a cheerful little minx she was. Wonder if former Chief A. O. Martin remembers the stories she told. By gollies, had it not been for newspaper accounts of a "terrible fight with rough men" the school authorities likely never would have located her. However, there was no bitter ending to her romance. The man who found her by the roadside took her into his Eagle Rock home, where she found a better mother, no doubt.

Were it not for these romancers, perhaps, the world would not go 'round so fast. And when news stranger than fiction is printed, we doubt that, too, which is puzzling, to say the least.

Business is good, thank you! Glance through the columns of The Glendale Evening News today—no special edition—but just a great, big representative newspaper of your own home city.

Yes, the February business in 1924 was just double that of 1923, and there is no letup in the growth. The Glendale Evening News is remodelling its plant, installing much expensive new machinery, having its already large building altered to double the capacity, and yet we believe that is not enough for more than five or six years.

Glendale is growing so fast that few realize what efforts need be made to keep the pace. Ever building, always serving, and profiting deservedly, makes possible a newspaper such as you see today.

We know you appreciate The Glendale Evening News or we would not be writing this.

There are a few, no doubt, who would like to be in the newspaper business. We know some who would get out of it. That is the case in any commercial enterprise or profession.

There is no doubt in the writer's mind, however, as to the work of providing the public with a bright, newsy, interesting daily paper. It is a wonderful opportunity to be able to sit down to a typewriter and talk to 30,000 or 40,000 people who are readers of these columns.

Why, we almost forget there is an oil scandal, or politics, or crime, or building, or anything else in the world than that many friends of ours will read this column tonight.

It's a grand and glorious feeling, all right.

Sig Haugdahl, accompanied by "Cannoball" Baker, today toured out to Dry Lake, east of Palmdale, on the Mojave desert, in an effort to attain a speed record of more than 180 miles per hour in his racing car. Imagine, if you can, what a terrific pace that is, when a sixty to ninety-mile gale takes all before it. Indeed, it is too fast for us.

Stella Goodman Given $500 Fine, Probation

Stella Goodman, 645 North Central avenue, arrested Tuesday on charges alleging violation of two provisions of the Wright act, entered a plea of guilty in Police Judge Lowe's court yesterday afternoon to the possession of liquor.

The charge of selling was not brought up. Mrs. Goodman was placed on probation for two years and fined $500 for the possession of liquor, which she paid. She was represented by Attorney Bert P. Woodard.

Vancouver Man Must Face Fraud Charges

REDWOOD CITY, Cal., Feb. 29.—District Attorney Franklin Swart has announced here that Thomas J. Skinner, alias T. J. Searle, reputed Canadian millionaire, will be brought here for trial from Vancouver, B. C., where he is under arrest on charges of Mrs. Searle, who claims to have been tricked into a marriage with him.

"If Skinner won't come voluntarily we will extradite him," the district attorney said.

MAN INJURED IN BLAST IMPROVES

Sewer Inspector Reported Resting Comfortably In L. A. Hospital

J. W. Kutz, of 650 West Wilson avenue, the Los Angeles sewer inspector who was painfully burned yesterday morning in a cesspool explosion in Van Nuys, is this morning reported to be resting comfortably, at the French hospital, 531 College street, Los Angeles, where he was taken following the accident.

Mr. Kutz is understood to have been blown fifteen feet into the air by the force of the explosion, which occurred as he was inspecting a cesspool for the city of Los Angeles.

It is reported at the hospital that no bones were broken and that there are no evidences of internal injuries. Mr. Kutz' burns are mainly confined to his hands, although his face is somewhat burned and his chest as well. The force of the explosion, it is thought, saved him from more serious injury.

LEGION POST TO USE NEW RITUAL

Officers of Glendale Post, No. 127, American Legion, will exemplify the new ritualistic work of initiation as laid down recently by National Headquarters for the first time tonight when a class of twenty-five will be taken into the order. Post Commander Joseph A. Wilson will preside.

Matters of importance along business lines which have been deferred for several weeks will be taken up tonight.

The members of the post are planning to attend the Glendale Presbyterian church in a body Sunday night at the invitation of Rev. W. E. Edmonds, to participate in a "Dedication of the Flag" service. Those attending will meet at the corner of Harvard and Louise streets at 7 o'clock.

FIND INDUSTRIAL LOTS ARE SCARCE

Growing Demand for Factory Sites Here Result In Advancing Prices

The increasing scarcity of industrial lots in Glendale is stressed by L. H. Wilson, prominent realtor, from his office at 1034 South San Fernando road.

"The reason for the wonderful investment opportunity offered in the Central Manufacturing ditsrict is realized at once," he says, "when it is considered that the growing demand for ground here by industrial interests is creating a shortage that will soon put all property in this area at a decided premium.

"When a tract that has been on the market is all bought up, just one thing can happen. The next buyers must pay a higher price. Conservative business men are realizing that there is no sounder investment in Glendale today than property in the South San Fernando road section.

Large Sums Invested

"A good way to make money is to follow the example of men who are making it. Successful business men don't jump at conclusions. They investigate carefully, then invest where their judgment tells them profit is certain. That is why such men are investing large sums in the Central Manufacturing district.

"I will be glad to show prospective investors, large or small, just where this district is and what its certain future is. My office here is a headquarters for fast-moving Glendale industrial property and an early visit, if they have money to invest, will prove to their very great advantage."

Woman Injured When Car Crashes Into Machine On E. Broadway

Minor damage resulted to the car of Albert Kleeves, 909 South Glendale avenue, as the result of being hit by a street car at 8:30 o'clock last night at Acacia and Glendale avenues.

Mr. Kleeves was crossing the street to put his car in the garage. The street at this point is torn up, and he stalled his engine in crossing the tracks. The street car, in charge of Motorman A. C. Lucin, hit his right rear wheel.

In his report of the accident, Mr. Kleeves stated that he did everything in his power to warn the motorman that he was stalled on the track, signaling him with spotlight.

The street car was going slowly when the crash occurred. No one was injured.

Woman Injured

Mrs. O. P. Rider of 708 East Lomita street was slightly injured Wednesday night when a machine driven by her husband crashed into a parked car in the 1100 block on East Broadway.

Mr. Rider stated that he did not see the car at the curb in time to avoid the accident. Mrs. Rider, after having her wounds dressed, was able to proceed to her home.

Loses Rear Wheels

A fast-moving car on the Burbank line of the Pacific Electric struck the machine driven by George B. Dennis, 322½ West Colorado street, at the Pacific avenue crossing Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Dennis, who was going south, did not see the car, he said, until it was right on top. Luckily, the street car did not strike his machine straight on, but knocked off the rear wheels. No one was injured.

A Ford coupe, driven by Everett E. Eagler, 57 Ocean View avenue, was overturned at the corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway last night shortly before 12 o'clock when struck by a machine driven by W. T. Clark, 145 North Glendale avenue.

Both drivers were taken to police headquarters to make out accident reports, and as there was no one hurt in the accident, they were allowed to proceed on their way.

Mohammedans Plan to Call Egyptian Ruler as Caliph

King Fuad

King Fuad of Egypt is not a descendent of Mohammed but he is expected to become Caliph of the Mohammedans and the spiritual leader of more persons than any other living man with the possible exception of the Pope. The Sultan of Turkey used to be hereditary Caliph, but when he was deposed, the Turks separated church and state. The arrangement is looked upon as unsatisfactory in the East and Fuad probably will receive a call to assume the robes of the Prophet's successor.

GLENDALE YOUTH COLLEGE ORATOR

Paul Hutchinson Is Selected To Represent U. of C. For Third Time

Paul Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson, of 246 North Orange street, will represent the University of California, Southern Branch, at the oratorical contest to be held at Pomona March 15, being chosen to uphold his university in this important event by reason of winning the tryouts held yesterday afternoon.

The colleges that will contend for the $100 cash offered as first prize in this contest are University of California (Southern Branch), Redlands, Pomona, Whittier, Occidental, California Institute of Technology and University of Southern California.

Won Several Medals

This is the third time the youth, who is a sophomore, has represented his university in an oratorical contest. As a senior in the Glendale Union High school he won the silver cup for the championship of southern California, and has won three gold medals and a silver medal for oratorical prowess in other contests.

Many of his orations have been on the theme of "Peace," and it is on a phase of this theme that he will represent the University of California, Southern Branch, at Pomona. The subject is one in which he is said to be vitally interested, and this no doubt gives his address the ringing sincerity that made it outstanding in yesterday's tryouts and will cause it to command attention at Pomona.

FEATURE CONCERT COMPANY AT SING

Interesting Program Given By Artists; Singers Vote on Songs

The Laurence Lambert Concert company were the features at last night's community sing at the Harvard High school. Miss Isoline Harvey, violinist, provided a real treat in her two numbers, "Souvenir" (Drdla) and "Spanish Dance" (Rehfield). Miss Harvey is an artist of outstanding ability who is soon to go on a concert tour throughout the country.

Laurence Lambert, baritone, lived up to the reputation he has earned in his tours through Canada and western United States. He gave the following numbers last night and won his audience unanimously: "Mother O' Mine" (Tours); "Invictus" (Bruno Huhn); "A Little Bit of Heaven" (Ball), and "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride" (O'Hara).

Mr. Lambert is now arranging a tour to cover western United States and Canada, with his assisting violinist, and pianist, and Harry W. Nixon as manager.

Vote On Old Songs

Alexander Stewart, the director of the community singing, offered many features in community singing. A list of nineteen songs which had been selected as the favorites by prominent musicians of the country were given to the audience and they checked their ten favorites. This vote is to be continued through the various organizations of the city and the ten songs that Glendale people select will be featured during music week early in May.

H. S. Robinson, tenor soloist of the First Methodist Episcopal church in Los Angeles, but who lives in Glendale, sang two pleasing numbers during the evening.

AT LAST—

After over a year of work and preparation the new $1,250,000 plant of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital will open on Mar. 23rd, and will be able to accommodate thousands of people from all parts of the Western Continent seeking health.

—In the new buildings patients will find every convenience and facility for treating the ill that can be found in any Sanitarium or Hospital in the United States.

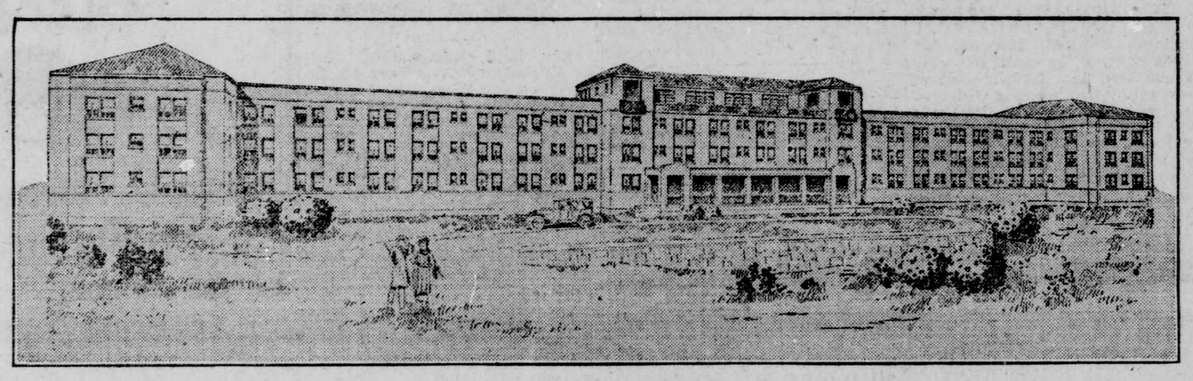

The Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital

Glendale's Largest and Best Known Institution

The Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital

IS ONE OF THE LARGEST INSTITUTIONS OF ITS KIND ON THE PACIFIC COAST

In having an institution of the magnitude and character of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital located here—Glendale not only gains the advantages derived from its large payroll and money expended here for supplies—but Glendale citizens are offered a Sanitarium and Hospital service that is afforded comparatively few communities in the United States.

Photograph of our new building, which will be ready for occupancy March 23, 1924

This Institution Is of Great Value to Glendale

People of Glendale and vicinity have every advantage of this local institution. Our dining room, treatment rooms, baths and hospital are at their disposal when occasion demands.

Its patients are numbered from every state in the Union, as well as many foreign countries.

The Glendale Sanitarium, in addition to bringing thousands of strangers to Glendale each year, advertises the city extensively by means of its advertising literature sent to every part of the globe.

OUR NEW LOCATION—

Nestled in the foothills east of Glendale —is one of the most ideal spots that could be chosen for an institution such as ours. With every advantage of Glendale's salubrious and healthful climate, it offers visitors extreme quiet and restfulness, a wonderful panoramic view of mountain, valley and city—and yet is convenient to transportation. A veritable haven for those seeking health under the most ideal conditions.

A Large and Well Equipped Sanitarium and General Hospital

For the Convenience of Both Surgical and Medical Patients. Curative Methods Are Employed According to the Latest Principles of Physiological Therapeutics.

The efficient methods of treating the sick, combined with a scientific knowledge of the preparation and combinations of foods used in a vegetarian, or so-called non-flesh dietary, give the patient a well-balanced course of treatment. The purpose of this work is to help nature restore health and put one in possession of knowledge that will help them know how to live to maintain health, for it is easier to lose than to regain.

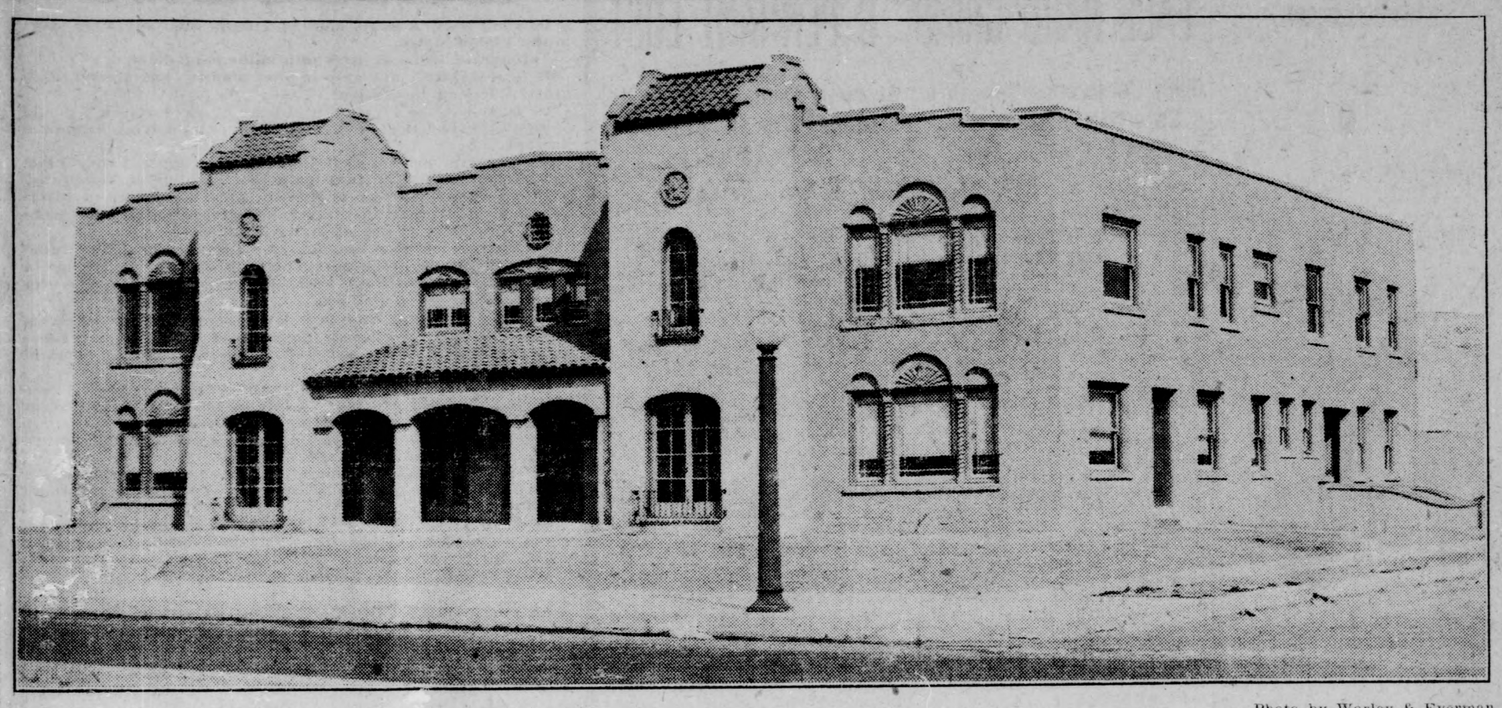

Glendale Sanitarium Uses the SAME SYSTEM of Treatments That Have Proved BENEFICIAL at the Famous BATTLE CREEK (Mich.) Sanitarium

This system of treatments consists of diet, exercise and massage, electric light baths, salt glows, hot applications and packs, hot and cold sprays, galvanic and sinusoidal electricity. The laboratories are equipped with fine X-Ray machines, with the latest stereoscopic improvements. Here the research work is also extensively carried on.

EDUCATOR TELLS OF SCHOOL WORK

Mountain Schools In South Perform Noble Task Among Illiterate

The Parent-Teacher association program, given under the direction of the Montrose parents and teachers, was one of the most beautiful school programs presented here in some time. The little ones were cleverly costumed in the colonial period dress, and most charming they were, receiving applause for their clever work. The entire performance was so nearly perfect as a whole that no one particular child's work could be commented on.

Mrs. Angier, president of the Parent-Teacher association, presented, as speaker of the afternoon, Milford Howard of Montrose, Alabama.

The speaker startled his audience with the statement that there are 100,000 people in the south who should be known as "the forgotten people." Mr. Howard said: "These people are the same today as in the early days of Washington; they sing the same folk songs, use Shakespearean English, words and terms which are now obsolete; yet these people, many of whom never saw a train, live in America."

A thought given for serious consideration was this: In the last 100 years the descendants of the colonial dames are rapidly decreasing; there are now, in fact, several thousand less of the direct descendants of the Mayflower pilgrims than there were 120 years ago. Another 120 years may see absolute extinction of the splendid line of Americans. On the other hand, children of the weak-minded type of parent, of the lowest immigrant order, are increasing greatly, and another 100 years will, according to Mr. Howard, see the pure American of Anglo-Saxon blood wiped off the face of our continent.

Mounting his hobby, "Mountain Schools in the South," Mr. Howard spoke most interestingly of the progress the school idea is making in his beloved mountains. There they are teaching the illiterate Americans, parents and children alike, the rudiments of the English language, how to read and write; and, too, they are preserving the truest ideals of Americanism, the traditions and chivalry of the old south; and, above all, these people are being educated to earn a living for themselves, and are all working their way through the mountain school, paying for their tuition by so many hours' work a day.

Mr. Howard is leaving Monday for the south, as he feels his life work is to answer the call to help his fellowman, but he is coming back next winter.

Down in this wonderful school they are teaching these lost people that science and religion have no quarrel, and that they can both be united in a perfect understanding.

Concluding his remarks with this statement, "The California Knights of the Round Table have sponsored the movement, and will stand back of it, to unite these people with us, under one flag, one hope and one nation," Mr. Howard thanked the ladies for their kindness in allowing him to speak on his "Mountain Schools."

After the senator was finished, a social hour was enjoyed over the teacups, tea and refreshments being served from a beautifully decorated table having a huge red, white and blue cover, while scarlet candles in colonial holders graced the board. The largest group of mothers ever present at a gathering of the Parent-Teacher association showed their appreciation of the entertainment committee's program work by being present.

Mrs. Anderson Entertains

Flower-bedecked rooms and beautifully gowned women attracted the eye of the beholder yesterday afternoon at the smart tea given by Mrs. Fred Anderson in her new home on Waltonia drive.

Mrs. Anderson was assisted by the following ladies: Receiving line, Mrs. C. A. Haskins and Mrs. J. C. Martin; Mrs. Mark Collins and Mrs. S. P. Witmore at the punch table; Mrs. Rose Nettleton and Mrs. Harvey Bissell presided at the tea urn, assisted in serving by the Misses Janet Culberson, Winona and Marjorie Nielson. A steady stream of guests arrived during her at-home hours, and a splendid fund for the Women's club building account testified to Mrs. Anderson's success as a hostess. Of particular interest is the fact that Madame Ellen Beach Yaw Cannon was present, the guest of her hostess, Mrs. Seymour Thomas of Cuddle Doon, with whom she is staying for a day or so.

Great indignation is felt by property owners in and around Montrose avenue vicinity, when it was learned the railroad company contemplates moving the Mexican section men and their families onto the acreage adjoining the wash on the north side of the railroad tracks. The residents here feel that is is not the place to erect a section-gang shantytown, and will immediately take steps to restrain any such move on the part of the railroad, if possible.

Plan for Concert

Mrs. C. A. Haskins, president of the Women's club; Mrs. Mark S. Collins, vice-president, and Mrs. Mary B. Darrow, chairman of the program committee, met with Mrs. Seymour Thomas and Madame Yaw to complete plans for the concert to be given by Madame Ellen Beach Yaw and her husband, Franklin Cannon, on behalf of the Women's club. The date decided on is April 23, which is Wednesday. The tickets are to be $1 each, and will be in the hands of the club members next meeting, March 12.

As this is the first place the great singer ever appeared on the concert stage, she feels particularly happy over returning to her concert work here in La Crescenta. Years ago, as a mere child, our California Lark would stand out under the glorious dome of blue and sing, her voice carrying a distance of three miles or so, so clear was the air; hence the wonderfully warm feeling that Madame Yaw feels in regard to La Crescenta, and her desire to help the club add to its funds for the clubhouse.

SCORES REED IN FIGHT ON M'ADOO

Mattison B. Jones Reports On Chicago Conference At Democratic Meet

Reporting on the conference of McAdoo supporters that was held at Chicago on February 18, and at which he was spokesman for the California delegation, Mattison B. Jones, prominent Glendale attorney, asserted at a meeting in the Alexandria hotel in Los Angeles yesterday that Senator Reed of Missouri has joined with Republican politicians in an attempt to submarine the candidacy of William G. McAdoo for the Democratic nomination for the presidency, an attempt, Mr. Jones declared, that is destined to result in complete failure.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Glendale Democratic club, the Women's Democratic League, and the Young Men's Democratic club of Los Angeles, and Mr. Jones was introduced by Col. Tom C. Thornton, president of the Glendale Democratic club.

In his introductory remarks, Colonel Thornton stated that the Glendale club is the oldest Democratic organization in Southern California, if not in the whole state. His tribute to Mr. Jones as one of the outstanding citizens and Democrats of California was enthusiastically received by the audience.

Walsh Lauds McAdoo

"The Chicago conference," said Mr. Jones, "was a national convention in miniature and was something unequalled in the political history of America, where representatives of forty states met to pass judgment, not sentiment, on the fitness of a candidate for high office at the request of that candidate."

Mr. Jones read a telegram from Senator Walsh of Montana, chief actor in the oil lease probe, in which Senator Walsh stated that McAdoo's character is untouched by the attempts of his political foes to besmirch him in the scandal that is rocking the country.

Other Glendalians present at the luncheon were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mitchell, Dwight B. Stephenson and Ralph A. Lynd.

SPORTS

FIGHT FANS SEE FIVE FAST BOUTS

Jess Willard Referees Main Event; Springer Fails To Keep Date

Two knockouts featured the bill presented by the Glendale Athletic club in its opening show of the year last night, when Rough-house Burns failed to live up to his name for more than a minute and a half, and when Jimmy Racer hung the sleep punch on Nick Carpin in one of the prettiest scraps ever staged in a local ring.

Jess Willard, ex-heavyweight champion, was present and "did his stuff," refereeing the main event and taking part in the festivities. He was presented with a life membership to the club by Lieut. W. J. Royle of the police department, who acted as master of ceremonies. Long before the first event was staged the room was packed, even standing space being at a premium.

In the wind-up, Tommy Richards of Van Nuys, did not show up, and Rough-house Burns of Canada was substituted against Eddie Byrd of Glendale. The only thing rough about Burns was his name. He was knocked down twice in the first minute, and the third time he kissed the canvas he stayed there and took the count. Byrd was not forced to extend himself.

Springer Not Present

Walter Williams of Burbank substituted for Art Springer of Vernon in the semi-windup. He and Cecil Taylor fought four good rounds, and at the finish Taylor got the judges' decision. They were handed a long and raucous raspberry by the crowd for their verdict. Williams should have had a draw at least, so they contended.

Bud Forester and Ted Rose put up a great exhibition with the former getting the decision, which proved popular with the crowd. Forester has appeared in the local ring several times this winter and each appearance shows a marked improvement.

The only knockout of the evening was registered by Jimmy Racer, who floored Nick Carpin of Wisconsin. For three rounds this was a very pretty scrap, and Carpin at the first looked like the winner. The pace was too fast for him, however, and he weakened in the third.

Next Card March 13

In the curtain raiser Eddie Kelly of Glendale and Billy Wallace of Los Angeles boxed a draw.

The bouts were run off in good style, although some difficulty was experienced in handling the big crowd.

The next program will be staged March 13. Matchmaker Pete Essick is already at work lining up six bouts for that evening.

The non-appearance of Art Springer was a disappointment to the crowd, but it was not the fault of the management. The popular Vernon boy has been up north and missed train connections so could not get here in time for the fight, his manager announced.

Tiger Tennis Team to Play Whittier Squad

The Occidental varsity net team will meet the Whittier tennis artists tomorrow morning in a conference tournament to be held on the Poet courts. Oxy defeated Calteck 5 to 2 in a match last week, and the Loyola team 7 to 0 in a practice tangle. The Engineers walloped the Quakers 7 to 0.

The Tigers enter the tournament favored to cop all events. Raymond, who won the Oxy tournameent for fourth man, and who has been ineligible because of some incomplete work, has made up the required credit and is now eligible. He will greatly strengthen the team when they meet S. B. U. C. and Pomona.

The Whittier team is composed of Hansen, Veal, Robinson and Jones. Oxy's men are Palmer, Finnell, Boice, Raymond and Creighton.

Southern Branch Net Stars Defeat Tigers

The Oxy frosh tennis team suffered defeat at the hands of the Southern Branch cublets in a fast and furious tournament played on the Branch courts yesterday afternoon. The final score gave S. B. U. C. the match, 4-3.

Instead of putting their best man up against Harold Dickenson, Southern Branch put a weaker player as first man, knowing that Oxy would take the first singles. Then they had their better players to go up against the Tiger poor men.

Dickenson won his singles easily and, paired with Neely, took the first doubles after three sets, 6-4, 6-8, 6-2. The Oxy team lost the other singles matches and second doubles. The freshmen are scheduled to meet Caltech frosh next Thursday afternoon on the Oxy courts.

RING TO EASE UP

LEESBURG, Fla., Feb. 29.—Because of sprained muscles, Jimmy Rin- the Phillies' veteran pitcher, has been ordered to take things easy until late next week. Bert Lewis, a rookie pitcher, starred in a "pick up" game yesterday with four hits.

SOAP MAKERS TO TAKE ON TIGERS

Vernon Athletes to Display Stuff In Exhibition Game Sunday

The Vernon Tiger will show his claws for the first time this season when he meets the White King Soap nine at Washington park, Los Angeles, next Sunday afternoon at 2:30, in the first exhibition game. The White Kings are a fast band of sphere chasers and should give the Tiger an argument.

As there are several candidates for each position on the Vernon team the competitors are expected to parade their best stuff in an effort to intrigue Bill Essick's affections to the extent of a steady job. The game will mean nothing, but will give the fans a chance to estimate what kind of a comeback Vernon may be expected to make this year, after flopping completely last season.

Good Material

Thirty or more players have been working out daily at Washington park and some good material is looming. Jim Blakesley, a Western league player last year, has been doing some long distance slugging in practice workouts. Several of his clouts have ended in the right field bleachers, which means a four-base excursion at Washington park.

McDowell, recently of Wichita, is being touted as a first base find. He also plays second base.

Semi-pro followers will be pulling for Cecil Cruze and Mike File, two young pitchers recruited late last season from the Southern association. Cruze is especially well known in the San Fernando valley, having served a long apprenticeship with San Fernando.

Some Other Games

Other exhibition games booked for the training season are: March 8, 9, Vernon and Chicago Cubs at Washington park, Los Angeles; March 14, 15, 16, Los Angeles and Chicago Cubs at Los Angeles; March 21, 22, Vernon and Cubs at Los Angeles; March 23, Angels and Cubs at Los Angeles; March 25, 26, 27, Kansas City Blues and Vernon at Los Angeles; March 30, Pittsburgh Pirates and Los Angeles at Los Angeles; March 31, Pirates and Chicago Cubs at Los Angeles.

Umpires who will receive the attention of displeased fans this year are: John "Beans" Reardon of Los Angeles; J. Edward Finney of Calipatria, wherever that is; E. J. Daly, Ocean Park; John Carroll, Detroit (pronounced "Dee-troy-it"); William J. Phyle, Youngstown; Perle Casey, San Diego (NOT pronounced "Day-go"); Walter Schaller, Oakland (yes, you're right, it's "Biff" himself); Joseph Becker comes clean from Joplin, Mo., which is quite some feat itself.

Local fans are familiar with the work of Reardon, Finney, Carroll, Casey and Phyle. The latter gesticulated in the Coast league two years ago and then went to the International. Becker is a veteran and Daly comes from the Texas league highly recommended.

LA CROSSE SEASON OPENS SATURDAY

Initial Contest to Be Held At Bovard Field; Many Players Here

Considerable interest is being manifested by former Canadians and easterners who are now residents of Glendale in the first championship la crosse game of the season to be played tomorrow afternoon at Bovard field at 3 o'clock, under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Union. The contesting teams will be the Los Angeles Athletic club and Long Beach.

The California Amateur La Crosse association, recently formed, expects to have a regular schedule carried out this summer and arrangements are now being made to have a game staged at the White Sox park on San Fernando road in two or three weeks.

Former Champs Here

There are thirty or forty world champion players now residing in Los Angeles, according to Tom Rennie, one of the best known players in Canada, who will referee tomorrow's game. The L. A. A. C. team will be led by Frank Sweeney of Victoria, British Columbia, captain of the world's championship team in 1919. The other team will be led by Harry Poppinger of New Westminster.

To anyone who has not witnessed a la crosse contest, the game has plenty of thrills. Sponsored by the A. A. U. and the L. A. A. C., the success of the new venture seems assured.

Oxy Basket Squad to End Season Saturday

The basketball season will close for the Oxy varsity tomorrow, when they meet the Redlands university casaba team in the Franklin gym. The freshmen team will also end their season in a preliminary game with one of the speedy prep teams in the neighborhood. The frosh have shown more class than the varsity and the season, as a whole, has been very successful for them. They have won the majority of their contests. The frosh game will start at 7:15 p. m. and the varsity game at 8:15 p. m.

'KNOCKOUT KING' GETS ONE MORE

Paul Berlenbach Adds Young Fisher as 25th Victim In Gotham Ring

NEW YORK, Feb. 29. — The knockout record of Paul Berlenbach, latest middleweight sensation, stands unblemished today as the result of his twenty-fifth consecutive knockout at Madison Square Garden last night. Young Fisher, seasoned Syracuse fighter, was the victim. Fisher stayed until the sixth round, but was in bad straits in all rounds except the first.

Fisher took the count of eight in the fifth round, and in the second round, Berlenbach rocked his opponent with heavy body blows. Twenty-four seconds after the sixth round started, Berlenbach planted a mighty left over Fisher's heart, and cut another notch on his gun.

The Fisher-Berlenbach affair was the semi-final event of a card that attracted 14,000 fight fans. Ad Stone, lightweight, of Philadelphia, was given the decision over Dave McGill in the eleventh round of their scheduled twelve-round battle, when the referee stopped the fight.

YANKEE HOLDOUT

OXY'S TRACK MEN FACE HARD GRIND

Open Conference Season on Saturday In Dual Meet With Calteck Foe

Occidental has a stiff track schedule in store for them. They opened the season several weeks ago with the interclass meet, which was finally copped by the class of '24, and the outlook for the season is exceedingly bright, with more meets scheduled than ever before. Although the Tigers did not show their stuff in the A. A. U. relay carnival, they still have plenty to exhibit.

Phil Ellsworth, captain of the cinderpath team, declares that the Tigers still have a good chance of winning the conference. The Occidental varsity team will open the 1924 conference season in a dual meet with Calteck on the Oxy track tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. On March 8 Oxy tangles with U. S. C. on the Patterson cinderpath in a meet which will give the Tigers a real chance to stack up their abilities against those of Coach Cromwell's Trojans of the Pacific Coast conference. Oxy has negotiated for the past two years for a dual meet with U. S. C.

Pomona Squad Strong

March 15 Oxy entertains Redlands and on March 22 they travel to Pomona and encounter the strong Sagehen varsity. The Pomona team is stronger than ever after the promotion of last year's frosh championship team, and this meet will probably be the hardest fought dual meet of the season. Following the Pomona meet, Oxy gets a chance to meet S. B. U. C.

The next week Occidental will try to repeat their victory in the conference meet, and retain the championship. This conference meet is to be held in the L. A. Coliseum April 5, with Southern Branch in charge. April 12 the combined all-conference track team will meet the Stanford squad at Palo Alto.

UNTANGLE KINKS IN COAST LEAGUE

Funny Pants Seen Around Spring Training Camps, Also SOME Golf

By COPELAND C. BURG
For International News Service

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 29.—"Oh, mama, look at the man in the funny pants!"

That's the hue and cry which will soon be raised by all the tiny tots in eight California localities as members of Pacific coast baseball clubs get down to business in their spring training frolics.

Weighted down with completely-equipped golf bags and wardrobes that would make either King Solomon or Francis Ouimet turn emerald with envy, up and down the broad Pacific slope the regular guys and the long-haired rookies of the coast baseball world are preparing to sit in on free room and board from now until April.

How Times Do Change

In the old days a baseball manager called his men together and, after giving each a full-sized dose of sulphur and molasses told them to play ball.

It's different now! A ball-tosser who doesn't play golf is considered a poor dub, and his team mates will organize and run him out of town just because he's a low-brow. And if they don't play golf, they're supposed to at least wear baggy pants, pink and green-checked hose and a broad, bright cap.

"Bert Ellison, the Seals' manager, broke his pet midiron today, just after he got away from a hanging lie. He was playing with Jimmy Reese, a shortstop recruit. Both were in the trap, and the rookie showed considerable savoir faire, playing a short one to the green, but recovering well, lying practically dead for a four. Reese is playing a mighty good game, and it looks in the cards as though he will be a big help to the Seals this season."

Where They Train

Of course! That's the latest bulletin from the San Francisco Seals' training camp at Boyes Springs. Thirty-six of the Seals are already cavorting around there. The camp food has been held satisfactory, and the golfing greens are rapidly getting into shape under the spring rains. Some of the Seals were said to have actually reported with two sets of golf sticks, while one catcher forgot his big mitt.

Oakland's 1924 outfit will untangle arm kinks at Myrtledale Hot Springs, and Los Angeles players will show their stuff at Catalina island, where a few of the Chicago Cubs are now in training. Salt Lakers will train at Fresno and the Seattle Indians will whoop it up at San Bernardino.

Sacramento and Vernon men will limber up at training camps right at home, while Portland's advance guard of pitchers and receivers will go into training at Byron Hot Springs. Later the batterymen will join the full crew of players and recruits at Stockton, Cal.

CENTRAL LEAGUE B PENNANT LOST

Overtime Costs Glendale Its Game With Alhambra, Score 13 to 14

By NEAL E. SOOY
Of The Evening News Staff.

Old Dame Fate held a vital decision in her hands yesterday, when the Class B Casaba teams of Glendale Union High school and Alhambra High clashed on the Pasadena High court for the Central League pennant.

To win, or not to win, and to which team should go the latter verdict, was the decision.

Just whether the lad rolled dice, or picked daisy petals, or went "eny-meny-miny-mo," is not certain, but the fact is that the locals lost.

Lost, yes, but by one, solitary point. Lost just when victory seemed to nestle in the Dynamiters' arms, just when the sun shone brightest. And it was the fact that defeat seemed so eminent for the Moors, that they gave up trying to get under the basket and began shooting from any vantage, from all over the court.

And it was just one of these aimless, thoughtless shots that won the game.

Contest Close

Throughout the entire game the contest was close, but the locals obviously had the better quintet. Lovell and Beman worked pretty at forwards. Neel played a whiz of a game at center, while Muff and Alvord made the Moors look like track candidates. At the end of the game, the score rested heavily, 12-12.

So, it was decreed that there should be ifve minutes more of playing. Only five minutes, but—oh, how long five minutes can be, and how much can be undone in those same 300 seconds.

Toward the end of the fatal five, Glendale crawled into the lead with a free shot. And after getting into the lead, they determined to stay there. And so perfect was the defense, that all the Alhambra five could do was to shoot from the region of their own basket. It was just before the last whistle, that Old Dame Fate cast her lot, and one of the aggressive Moors took a wild shot from the center of the floor.

REDS WILL GATHER

CINCINNATI, Feb. 29.—George Burns and Gus Sandberg will be the only two Reds to accompany manager Pat Moran and his assistant, Jack Hendricks, to Orando, Fla., tomorrow. Other players will go direct from their home towns.

Does Glendale WANT Baseball?

Baseball today attracts more spectators than any other sport in the United States.

The annual turnover runs into millions of dollars.

It is recognized, not only in this country, but abroad, as a great American institution.

Glendale, as the "fastest growing city in America," should certainly be included in the ranks of cities having organized baseball.

Did you ever hear of Coffeyville, Kansas, until Walter Johnson pitched his way to fame with the Washington Americans?

George Sisler and Rogers Hornsby have done more to advertise St. Louis than all the propaganda distributed by the Chamber of Commerce or any of the civic clubs.

Who knows but what Glendale may boast another Babe Ruth?

Howard Ehmke, allowing but one hit in eighteen innings of major league baseball last year, advertised Glendale wherever the modern newspaper is read.

Not as a matter of sentiment, but as a proposition involving dollars and cents, it is worth thousands of dollars to have Glendale represented in the proposed Southern California baseball league.

In Florida the Chambers of Commerce have advanced a sum of money that will run into six figures in order to lure major league teams there in the spring of the year.

Can you imagine a Glendale product starring in the world's series? What would that mean to you?

We are not asking for charity. We offer you a season ticket for $10. Upon the success of this sale depends the future of the White Sox.

Baseball is as much a civic necessity as parks and playgrounds. We expect to give the people of Glendale their money's worth, but we also expect their support.

Will you help to put Glendale on the baseball map?

"The Store That Sells for Less"

SEEK TO SECURE VOTE INCREASES

Legion Head Urges Citizens to Exercise Right to Cast Ballots

"No man or woman can justify his or her claim to the right to participate in the great blessings of citizenship in the United States unless he or she has shown appreciation of such privileges by using the ballot," James F. Collins, state commander of the American Legion, declares in a message to the former soldiers to register for the coming elections in California.

Commander Collins has joined his legion forces with those who are seeking to secure a greater registration of the voters throughout the state. American Legion men in every community will thus be asked to help get out the voters as a part of the present statewide citizenship educational campaign which the legion is promoting.

"We must raise the percentage of votes cast for all elected from the disgraceful and dangerous one that now prevails, approximately 30 per cent of the registered voting power," Commander Collins warns.

Menace to Country

"The failure of the average American citizen now and in the past to properly and seriously appeal to his or her self the responsibility of that word has fostered the great menace to the stability and continuance of our present great measure of happiness and prosperity in our great country," the legion head points out.

Commander Collins' plea for a greater participation in government on the part of all Californians is just one feature of the problem of Americanization and education in citizenship which his organization is now engaged in.

Commander Collins has sent his personal representative, Captain S. N. Dancey, into all parts of the state to assist in the legion's drive for better citizenship. Captain Dancey is one of the best known platform speakers in the United States. He reports that the legion's educational campaign is making excellent progress everywhere.

Looking to Legion

"It just goes to prove that the people are absolutely right at heart," Captain Dancey wrote the state department. "All they need is a little awakening, and I am glad that the department of California is behind this program and is taking the leadership in this patriotic revival. The people are reaching out for a solution of the problems that beset America and they, naturally, are looking to the legion to assume the leadership. I have seen the wonderful awakening through other states of the union, and it begins to look to me as though California would develop the greatest enthusiasm of all. It is the biggest thing the legion has attempted and it means a constructive policy for the legion post and public opinion lined up solid behind the post."

Boulder Dam Power Necessary for L. A.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Federal government construction of Boulder dam in the Colorado river is desired by Los Angeles, to insure cheaper power and water for that city, Ralph L. Criswell, a member of the Los Angeles city council, told the House irrigation committee.

Criswell said the question has been an issue in city elections in Los Angeles, and city councilmen have been elected on support of federal development of the Colorado river electric power and water resources. He stated that the growth of the city in population and business made necessary imperatively a larger water and power supply.

The only way a man can convince us he is boss in his own house is to use the guest-towel without fear of being bawled out. —Paris (Ill.) News.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 29.—A squad of police officers late yesterday climbed to the top of Mt. Wilson, arrested F. Robinson, alleged owner of a 500-gallon still, seized 200 gallons of "moonshine" liquor as well as 50 barrels of whisky mash and exposed what they believed to be one of the main sources of liquor supplying Los Angeles.

Robinson is said to have operated his place for several months. He was booked on three counts of violation of the Wright act.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

Tom Mix in "Mile-a-Minute Romeo" shows at the Glendale theater today, with Tom's famous horse "Tony" in the cast. The picture is adapted from "The Gun Gentleman" by Max Brand and is directed by Lamber Hillyer. William Fox releases the offering.

In no previous production, perhaps, does Tom Mix display his horsemanship so skillfully. Throughout the production he is almost entirely riding—wild. We do not believe this situation makes it easy to emote and for that reason declare Mr. Mix's performance extraordinary. Betty Jewel, leading lady, is very satisfactory, as is the entire supporting cast.

THE GATEWAY

Charles Chaplin's great drama of fate, "A Woman of Paris," shows at the Gateway theater today and tomorrow, featuring Edna Purviance. Here is a film that is so unusual, so excellent, that from one end of the country to another it has been hailed as a masterpiece.

The entire story and production, conceived and produced by the master cinema genius reveals a treatment of a vital problem and force that will blaze a new trail along the highway of motion picture progress.

The theme is a startling one, and made the more so because of the utter simplicity and warmth of feeling that permeates it. It presents a problem dealing with the basics and fundamentals of life.

FLYERS PREPARE FOR WORLD TRIP

Eight Pilots and Mechanics Eager to Start Cruise At Clover Field

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE
For International News Service

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 29.—When the around-the-world army flyers take off from Clover field at Santa Monica on March 16 on the first leg of their epoch-making trip there will be a determination of each member of the group of eight men to make the globe-circling flight a success in the highest degree that even the most telling handicaps will have a hard time to dominate.

"We are going to win," said Major F. L. Martin, commanding officer of the flight, in an exclusive interview with International News Service today, "and despite the handicaps of almost everything known to aviation we hope to complete the hazardous trip and with our entire crew on hand. We know we have the best equipment humanly possible."

First Plane Is Ready

The first of the four planes, known as the aircraft world cruisers, which are being built at Santa Monica, was turned over to the intrepid flyers today for testing. The others will be rushed out as soon as possible and by March 5 the last plane will be ready. The four ships, Major Martin explained, will be taken to San Diego March 7, where they will remain until March 10 to swing the compasses. After this they will return to Clover field, and, unless present plans go afoul, the four pilots and an equal number of mechanics, one for each ship, will leave about noon, Sunday, March 16, on the daring journey.

"Our first stop will be Sacramento," Major Martin said. "From there we will go to Seattle, probably stopping at Eugene, Ore., for fuel. At Seattle we will discard our landing gear for pontoons, as for some distance from Seattle we will be traveling over water and follow the Canadian and Alaskan coasts to the Aleutian islands and across the Shimshue. Then our route will follow the Kruil island group to Japan, and across the China sea to Shanghai, Siam and Calcutta, India, where we will again change from the pontoons to land gear and proceed across Europe to Paris, stopping at Slausberg, Vienna and other cities.

"Altogether there are six divisions to the route of the trip, with about ten stops in each division. We hope to average about 400 or 450 miles each day, with the longest jump being about 750 miles. If all goes well, and we are sure it will, we should complete the trip in about five and a half months. In order to avoid hitting ice on the last leg of the journey we have almost got to make it to London not later than September 1."

The flyers are: Major Martin, Lieutenants L. H. Smith, Leigh Wade and Eric Nelson. The mechanics, one to travel in each ship, are: Second Lieutenant John Harding, Jr., Technical Sergeant A. S. Turner, Staff Sergeant A. L. Harvey and Sergeant Henry Ogden.

Duplicate parts of each plane have already been shipped to the points at which stops will be made.

KERR CONTRASTS MOSES, CHRIST

Great Law Giver's Demands Form Basis of Modern Jurisprudence

"A Great Leader in a Great Crisis" was the subject of the sermon delivered by Rev. J. McD. Kerr at the evangelistic service last night at the First Methodist church.

The speaker gave a review of the life of Moses, the great emancipator who let the Hebrew race in their great historical march from Egypt to Canaan. "Moses," said Rev. Kerr, "was a type of Christ. He was a great teacher who generalized while Christ specialized. Moses led the children of Israel through the kindergarten of offerings, all typical of Christ's offering.

"Moses was a great law giver. His rules and commandments are the foundations of our modern jurisprudence, but his rule of an eye for an eye were supplanted in the Christian world by Christ's sermon on the mount, when he laid down the great principle of conduct, 'Love your enemies.'

"Moses was a great leader and successfully led the hosts out of Egypt. Christ is a great leader and one that has led multitudes out of the bondage of sin, and wherever he is being lifted up today, he is drawing men unto him."

Tonight will be banner night for the young people. Rev. Kerr will deliver an appropriate sermon on "Richness of Mercy, Greatness of Love."

Announcement is made of the great mass meeting for boys and men which has been arranged for Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. At the same hour a meeting for the women and girls will be conducted in another part of the church.

Mother Frantic After Finding Babe in Tank

SANTA ANA, Cal., Feb. 29.—Prostrated at finding the body of her 2-year-old son at the bottom of a large tank near her home in Lemon Heights, near here, Mrs. George Whelsell threatened yesterday to take her own life, necessitating her removal to a hospital where a close watch will be kept over her until she is able to go home. The tragedy happened late Wednesday.

Busy in her home, Mrs. Whelsell missed George, the dead boy, and his 3-year-old brother. She went into the yard and later found the older boy. He told her his little brother "fell in the hole" in the water tank. Looking into the tank, Mrs. Whelsell saw the body of her baby and leaped into the six feet of water, hoping she might save the child. After rescuing the body Mrs. Whelsell ran screaming to a neighbor, who called her husband. Coroner Brown stated an inquest would be held, although he was of the opinion that the drowning was accidental.

Saved from Gas Death By Instinct of Fear

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 29.—A sense of danger, insistent through the feeling of weakness, saved the life of George Minick, of this city, who awoke about 3 o'clock one morning and found himself near death from asphyxiation in a gas-filled room, according to physicians.

Minick had gone to bed without completely shutting off the gas jet in his bedroom. He said he awoke with a sensation of choking; his breath came in gasps. Despite his weak and drowsy condition, he screamed. Neighbors rushed to his assistance, and his life was saved through the operation of a pulmotor.

Physicians declared he was in a state of semi-consciousness when he awoke and that it was only his all-powerful instinct or sense of danger that enabled him to scream for help.

Glare of Headlights Nearly Wrecks Ship

HONOLULU, Feb. 29.—Glaring automobile headlights almost caused the wreck of the big inter-island steamer Haleakala and possibly the new concrete wharf at Mala Harbor, Island of Maui. As the Haleakala approached the wharf, an automobile, with powerful headlights, raced along the structure heading directly toward the vessel, blinding the captain and his fellow officers for a few seconds. When they again glimpsed the wharf they were almost on it, and only a quick reversal of the engines averted a crash. The matter was called to the attention of the Territorial Board of Harbor Commissioners, and hereafter automobiles passing onto the wharf will use their dimmers.

FIVE TROOPS OF SCOUTS IN HIKE

Games and Contests Around Campfire Planned for Saturday Outing

It is planned to have 100 local Boy Scouts in the big hike and campfire Saturday, March 1, announces Harvey R. Cheesman, Scout executive. This will include practically the entire personnel of the five local troops.

The boys will assemble at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Central school, with their scoutmasters. They will then hike to Eagle Rock park, Mr. Cheesman states. Here they will engage in games and contests.

At supper time each patrol will cook its own meal, and in the evening there will be a big campfire and stories dear to the boyish heart will be passed around.

Dr. C. M. Hensley is scoutmaster of Troop 1, H. Glover of Troop 2, George W. S. Reed of Troop 3, R. C. Haimbaugh of Troop 4, and J. Bradford of Troop 5.

Kiwanian Charter Night

Elaborate preparations are being made by the local Kiwanis club to celebrate Charter Night, which comes March 14, and reservations are now being made for the banquet that will be held in honor of the occasion, states Andrew Wilson, president.

BURBANK

ELIMINATE KINK IN HIGHWAY, PLAN

Corner Where Many Accidents Occur Will Be Made Safe for Travel

The kink in San Fernando boulevard at Scott road is to be eliminated, a movement having been inaugurated by the city trustees at their last meeting to accept the offer of Dominick Morro to deed a portion of his property here as a right-of-way, so that the boulevard may take a more gentle curve and come out several hundred feet beyond the corner, instead of following Scott road as at present.

As it is at this corner that a number of bad accidents have occurred, the move to straighten the highway is greeted with enthusiasm by the entire 30,000 motorists who daily travel San Fernando boulevard.

The only obstacle still remaining in the path of the proposed improvement is a financial one. It will cost $10,000 to make the change, estimates City Engineer F. Curt Miller. This Mr. Morro refuses to bear, feeling that he has done all that is required of him in donating the right-of-way.

On the theory that the improvement is an important one and should be partially financed by the state and the county, a committee has been appointed to lay the matter before the proper authorities. This committee comprises C. H. Kline, president, and Mrs. Walter Fisher, secretary of the city planning commission, and in addition City Trustee Watson.

Ben Marks has agreed to supply the dirt to make the required fill.

Mrs. Margaret Yale, local attorney, has outlined the legal requirements for a public library, as she was authorized to do by the Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting. A petition signed by 25 per cent of the electors of the city constitutes all the legal authority required by the city trustees to authorize them to establish such a library, she states, and to provide funds for a building and the purchase of books and maintenance of such an institution.

Mrs. Yale outlines some of the high lights of library organization as follows:

"The Board of Trustees may, and upon being requested to do so by one-fourth of the electors of a municipal corporation, by ordinance establish in and for said municipality a public library (provided there be none already established therein).

"The request referred to in the preceding section may be by a single petition or by several petitions, provided that such several petitions be substantially in the same form, and that such single petition has, or such several petitions have in the aggregate, the signatures of the requisite number of electors.

"Such public library shall be managed by a board designated as the Board of Library Trustees, consisting of five members, to be appointed by the mayor, president of the Board of Trustees or other executive head of the municipality. Said trustees shall severally hold office for three years, serving without compensation."

Five Double Acts on Glendale's Program

Good things come in pairs at the Glendale theater, it would appear from the vaudeville offerings today and tomorrow. Smith & Earl will sing songs. Parks & Clayton feature a wardrobe and some smart sayings. Evans & Eilson also are a pair who sing and talk and dance.

For diversity Yaco & Marco with accordion and violin not only play popular and classical numbers, but inject more comedy into the program. The novelty of the bill, however, is a balancing act by Rolland brothers whose work borders on the danger line of sensationalism. And, of course, there is the film feature announced elsewhere.

Their method is to erect four twenty-five-foot towers, at from fifty to 100 feet apart, as nearly in the form of a square as the terrain will permit. On these towers they place large quantities of chemicals mixed by a secret formula. Rain, they claim, invariably follows their efforts.

The Hatfield brothers declare that at the present time conditions are more favorable for breaking the drought in San Bernardino county than in Ventura county and it is there that they will probably operate. Their work, they state, is on a basis of "no rain, no pay."
